PRESIDENT'S REPRESENTATIVE TO RETURN IMMEDIATELY TO UNITED STATES.

HIS MISSION IS OVER

SAYS ADIOS TO GAMBOA—MALE MAY ALSO RETURN.

WILSON WILL READ MESSAGE

In Night Session at White House Communication to Both Houses Is Given Over.

Mexico City, Aug. 25.—President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, will leave the Mexican capital tomorrow, preceding to Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind called on Foreign Minister Gamboa today to say goodbye, but there was nothing in their conversation regarding the resumption of negotiations or to indicate that Mexico would recede from her position.

Mr. Lind will sail from Vera Cruz at an early date, presumably on a battleship. It is expected that William Bayard Hale, who has been in Mexico City, in an unofficial capacity, will accompany Mr. Lind or leave soon after. Rumors persist that General Trevino, who has been summoned to the capital, will become provisional president, but confirmation is lacking and this report is offset by another that General Huerta has called in most of the retired officers and many of those on detached duty to report for duty.

Don Felix Diaz, who started for Japan as special Mexican ambassador, also is said to have received a summons to return to Mexico.

Mexican and foreign residents manifest great uneasiness over the Mexican situation through the presentation of President Wilson's message to congress, but the government is uncommunicative and will maintain its reserve until after the message has been read.

As an indication of the cordial personal relations established by Mr. Lind with General Huerta, the president placed his private car at the disposal of Mr. Lind, who accepted the proffer and will occupy the car tomorrow on the trip to Vera Cruz.

THAW CLAIMS RIGHTS IN COURT

INTERNATIONAL TWIST—AMERICANS ALLOWED SAME PRIVILEGES AS CANADIANS.

J.ROME COMES BY AUTOMOBILE

Old Prosecutor Takes Charge of New York's Case—Thaw Claims He Has No Fear.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—The arrival of Wm. Travers Jerome, Harry Kendall Thaw's old prosecutor, the assumption by ex-Governor Wm. A. Stone of Pennsylvania of the position of spokesman for the Thaw family pending the arrival of Roger O'Mara, the Pittsburgh detective, and the injection into the case of renewed talk of its assuming international aspects, were briefly the chief developments of the day in Sherbrooke since Stanford White's slayer fled from Mattewan.

If Thaw was terrified by Jerome's coming, he succeeded in concealing his feeling from all who visited him in his cell. Again he spoke of Jerome sneeringly, calling him "Willie" and insisted that his lawyers release a summary of Jerome's remarks made in 1903, when he snubbed him.

Of the lighter incidents of a day of excitement—exciting principally by what might happen—was Thaw's show of temper over the fact that his breakfast was ten minutes late, and his continued erratic statements relative to plans for the publicity campaign which he regards as more important than any legal aspect of his case.

The possibility of an international twist in the case came when ex-Governor Stone raised the point that a Canadian lawyer would commit himself as to whether they shared Mr. Stone's views, although all conceded that the drastic immigration law, a comparative new one—had never been tested in the courts. They said that, so far as they knew, the procedure followed last week would be followed, that of arraigning Thaw in the superior court Wednesday on a writ of habeas corpus obtaining his release on the present commitment, making a fight before the immigration board and then relinquishing to the American lawyers the case.

Mr. Jerome came to Sherbrooke by automobile all the way from Nyack, N. Y., whence he departed Saturday.

Mr. Jerome said he had not followed in New England the route taken by Thaw, for the reason that he did not know it. He did, however, go over the ground in a general way. His trip had been a hard one, but he was fresh in mind and body and ready for the work before him.

The question of extradition of Thaw from Vermont, he said, "will rest entirely with the governor. Politics sometimes enters into cases of this sort. Both sides can present their case to the governor in the form of a plea, then it is up to the governor and do just as he pleases. The relations of our states are uncertain in the matter of extradition."

Mr. Jerome spent the afternoon in conference with E. A. Conger, district attorney of Dutchess county, N. Y., the Canadian lawyers retained to represent the New York interests in court.

No many versions were abroad of what will happen after Thaw is turned over to the immigration authorities that it was a case of take your choice. This led to the belief that at Ottawa, and Ottawa only, were decisions to be reached.

To Go to Coalbrook.

Tonight it was said it would be necessary to take the prisoner to Coalbrook, a port of entry, and have the immigration board's hearing in the so-called immigration shed.

The questions which will be fought out are whether he is an undesirable alien, either as a lunatic or a person confined in a lunatic asylum within a period of five years, or a person who crossed the border by stealth and misrepresentation.

CHARGES AGAINST GRAND JURORS

ATTORNEYS FOR RELIEF OF RATLIFF STATE NINE MEMBERS IN CONSPIRACY.

Says He Did Not Ask the Defendant to Confess in Order to Clear Norris.

Fort Worth, Aug. 25.—Charges that at least nine members of the Sixty-Seventh District grand jury were in a conspiracy to indict innocent men in order to clear another man in the mysterious burning of the First Baptist church and the paragon were made in District Judge Buck's court Monday by counsel fighting for the release by habeas corpus of J. W. Ratliff, one of the three indicted for the church and paragon fires.

The sensational charge was made when Jordan Y. Cummings, one of the private prosecutors, refused on the witness stand to answer the question of William F. McLean Jr., of counsel for Ratliff, whether he had been solicited to serve on the Sixty-Seventh grand jury.

"I refuse to answer because that is immaterial," Cummings said.

"We can show," McLean promised the court, "that those men solicited to serve were told the purpose for their being wanted on this grand jury, and that they were solicited before the jury commissioners met to draw the grand jury."

Private prosecutors vigorously objected to the line of questioning, but Albert J. Baskin of Ratliff's counsel insisted that a conspiracy could be shown.

"We perhaps can't show the conspiracy by this one witness," Baskin said, "but we can show it by connecting circumstances. We can show there was a conspiracy to indict, if not convict, in order to remove suspicion in the eyes of the people from another man."

Judge Buck stopped the hot argument between lawyers of both sides and said he knew that the people of the city have taken sides on the issues that have grown out of the burning of the church, and that he does not desire to hold any man to trial unless the evidence justifies it. He did not, however, consider the conspiracy testimony material at this time and did not compel Cummings to answer.

Lavender Refuse to Answer.

Cummings had come to the witness stand after Fred Lavender, the state's informer, who had previously testified that the Ratliff fighting for his liberty is not the Ratliff he implicated, refused to answer any questions at all.

Cummings testified Lavender told him in jail after he had testified to the contrary Saturday, that the Ratliff in jail is the right one.

"Lavender told me," Cummings said, "that he was afraid to say this in the court room because he might be killed in jail by other prisoners for 'snitching.' He said the 'kangaroo court' had warned him that if he 'squealed' he would be stripped and given 100 lashes. He said he was afraid to take such chances on his life."

Oscar Hill, whom Ratliff accuses of offering him a bribe at El Paso to come to Fort Worth and 'confess' he took part in the church burning in order to 'clear Preacher Norris,' testified Monday that Ratliff told him the night of the church fire that he and Herschel Long were going to 'do away with the First Baptist church' and that there would be a piece of money in it for him if he would come along.

He said that when he and John Hones, the private detective for the defense of Rev. J. Frank Norris, who was then charged with burning his church, went to El Paso at the time of the cattlemen's convention last March, Ratliff told him, "You could have got

LEO M. FRANK CONVICTED OF MURDER

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 25.—Leo M. Frank, convicted in today's slaying of Mary Phagan, showed no emotion when informed that the jury had found him guilty of first degree murder. His wife collapsed. A throng outside the court room cheered wildly when the verdict was announced. Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, who conducted the prosecution, was lifted to the shoulders of several men and carried through the crowd. Mounted policemen rode through the throng in an ineffectual attempt to stop the demonstration. Even Judge Roan was given an ovation when he appeared.

The case was given to the jury shortly after noon. About 5 o'clock a verdict was reached and read in the presence of the attorneys, newspaper men and court attaches. Spectators had been excluded. Frank, by agreement of counsel, was permitted to remain in his cell and was not told of the result for more than an hour. He received the news stolidly. His attorneys announced that a motion for a new trial will be filed immediately. Meanwhile, Judge Roan says, Frank will not be sentenced, possibly for several days.

Mary Phagan's body, bearing marks of violence, was found in the basement of the National Pencil factory on the morning of April 27.

Newt Lee, negro night watchman of the factory, who found the body, was arrested on suspicion. Superintendent Frank and several other employees were detained several days later. Among them was James Conley, negro sweeper. At Frank's trial Conley swore he had stood guard outside the factory office, while Frank was closeted with the pretty 14-year-old girl, and later helped Frank carry the body to the basement. The negro also charged the defendant with degeneracy.

Late in the afternoon the defendant denied all knowledge of the crime.

Canadian Court House, Where Thaw Is to Be Tried, and Judge Globensky

It is probable that the courthouse in the little Canadian town of Sherbrooke will be the scene of as great a legal battle as has been known in the Dominion for many years. For here it is that Harry Thaw, backed by the millions of his family, is to make another stand for liberty.

Judge Globensky, who heard his application for a writ of habeas corpus Thursday, August 21, postponed the case to Wednesday, August 27, so counsel could study the case. Thaw has employed some of the ablest lawyers in Canada and others in the United States, who attempted to get him out here, have gone to his aid.

GRAND JURY RECONVENES AT GATESVILLE—TAKES UP BATTLE KILLING.

SENATE RATIFIES THE FREE LIST

A FEW COMMODITIES RESERVED FOR FUTURE CONSIDERATION. CONSIDER PRINT PAPER.

DISCUSS COTTON MILL LABOR

Smith of South Carolina Assails New England Foreign Labor—Tip-pitt Makes Retort.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Ratification of the free list in the tariff bill, with reservation of a few conditions for later consideration, agreement by the Democrats of the finance committee to consider an amendment by Senator Kenyon which would automatically transfer trust controlled articles to the free list; discussion of free print paper and the paper schedule and a lively debate on southern and New England cotton mills; the tariff debate in the senate today.

So rapid was the progress in consideration of the free list that Democratic leaders were led to predict an early passage of the bill, some insisting it would be ready for a vote by the middle of next week. In the midst of this progress, however, were injected several set speeches, which precipitated a long colloquy between Senators Lippitt of Rhode Island and Smith of South Carolina over relative conditions in New England and Southern cotton mills. This occupied several hours and left the schedules considerably behind for the day.

Free wool was among the proposals in the free list approved by the senate in "committee of the whole" but this will come up again on substitutes offered in the senate proper. Free meat, cattle, sheep, swine and wheat were passed over at the request of Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

Assails Foreign Labor.

Senator Smith of South Carolina, assailing the foreign labor in New England cotton mills and the wages paid, provoked a sectional debate, Senator Lippitt retorting with a description of the child labor of the South and a comparison of wages, showing the Southern wages to be lower than those paid in New England cotton mills. The paper schedule was agreed to be amended by the finance committee, with the exception of the paragraph on wrapping paper, which was passed over at the suggestion of Senator Hughes, in charge of the schedule.

The sundries schedule was taken up and the paragraphs on brooms, brushes and buttons agreed to. Senator Bristow protested that the reduced duties on brooms was another discrimination against products in which farmers were interested. Senator Cummins protested against the reduced duties on the cheaper grades of buttons, claiming that the rates proposed would put the Iowa manufacturers out of business.

During the afternoon Senator Ashurst delivered a general defense of the bill.

An amendment to the foreign meat inspection clause was proposed to the finance committee by the bureau of animal industry, which suggested the original clause providing that an inspection of American meat should be "sufficient." The amendment is designed to clarify the clause by providing that such foreign inspected meat shall enjoy the same rights and privileges as accorded American meat inspected under the inspection law of 1906.

AGRICULTURAL PAPER GOES INTO BANK LAW

Congressman Henry Claims That He Has Won His Contention In The Democratic Caucus

FARMERS GET AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

With Commercial Interests—Chairman Glass Denies That the Action of the Caucus is a Surrender to Waco Congressman

Washington, Aug. 25.—James H. Quaries, Managing Editor Morning News, Waco, Texas.—Democratic caucus has just adopted amendment to the Glass bill authorizing rediscounting of farm paper based on warehouse and elevator receipts and making such agricultural paper a basis for the issuance of United States currency upon the same.

This recognizes the exact principle for which I have been fighting for three months, and makes the farmer's paper eligible for rediscount and government issuance of money upon the same terms accorded the banker and commercialist. The time for maturity is not quite long enough, but the committee has been compelled to raise it from 45 to 90 days. Have done the best I could in this caucus, but will get more later. Hence, as now written, by my amendment, farmers may organize farmers' banks, loan cheap money to the farmer and bring farmers' paper to the regional bank and rediscount same and secure government money on it, and by that means hold their crops in warehouses for better prices and thus defeat the Wall street stock gamblers.

R. L. HENRY.

HENRY CLAIMS A VICTORY.

Chairman Glass Says He Was Beaten in Caucus.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Aug. 25.—An agricultural currency feature, as an amendment to the administration currency bill, was adopted by the house democratic caucus today. After several preliminary skirmishes, in which other amendments were beaten, the caucus, without a dissenting vote, adopted an amendment, agreed to by both the insurgent contingent and banking and currency committee, to put paper based on agricultural products on the same basis as commercial paper for banking purposes.

It also would extend the maturity of notes and bills, admitted to discount under the amendment to sixty days, instead of the originally proposed forty-five days. This action disposed of the last of the big controversial issues in the administration currency bill.

As the Amendment Reads.

The amendment, the result of many conferences, and concurred in by agricultural leaders, and those unsuccessfully seeking other amendments, reads:

Upon the endorsement of any member bank, any federal reserve bank may discount notes and bills of exchange rising out of commercial transactions, that is, notes and bills of exchange issued or drawn for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes, the proceeds of which have been used or may be used for such purposes, the federal reserves to have the right to define the character of the paper thus eligible for discount, within the meaning of this act. But such definition shall not include notes or bills issued or drawn for the purpose of carrying on trade in stocks or bonds or other investment securities, nor shall anything herein contained be construed to prohibit such notes and bills of exchange, secured by agricultural products or other goods, wares or merchandise, from being eligible for such discount.

Notes and bills admitted to discount under the terms of this paragraph must have a maturity of not more than ninety days.

Henry Claims Victory.

"We have won all we contended for," was the comment of Representative Neely of Kansas, in charge of the opposition to the bill.

"The Glass amendment," said Representative Henry of Texas, "was practically to the amendment I have advocated during the last three months."

Glass Says Henry Beaten.

"The discount section as thus amended," replied Chairman Glass, "does not comprehend a single one of the will and absurd suggestions which had been proposed. Mr. Henry surrendered solely and simply because he was beaten. He jumped after the boat left the wharf."

Other amendments of the committee made similar statements.

Chairman Glass said tonight that the amendment did not discriminate either for or against the farmer, that the New England shoe manufacturer or clothing manufacturer could present their goods for discount as well as the farmers and in the final analysis, "the whole thing is left to the federal reserve board or the regional reserve bank, which does the discounting."

During today's session, the caucus defeated an amendment by Representative Wingo of Arkansas to exclude from rediscounting at federal reserve banks notes or bills intended for dealing in futures or marginal trading on agricultural products.

Representative Gray of Indiana, in the principal speech of the day, ineffectually sought to divide the federal reserve districts into four geographical divisions.

JACK JOHNSON SHOUTED DOWN

Negro Pugilist Attempts to Address a Crowd Outside of Variety Theatre in London.

London, Aug. 25.—"Jack" Johnson negro pugilist, was shouted down by a band of youths when he attempted to address the audience from a box in the Euston theatre of varieties to-night after a demonstration in the negro's favor, which caused two performers to abandon their turns. At a south London music hall, Johnson was greeted with cheers.

Tonight's visits to the two theatres, Johnson explained, was part of a test "to find out if the public wanted him to show." He is billed for engagements at several music halls.

The Marquis of Queensbury, in a statement to the Daily Press, appeals for fair play for Johnson. He argued that there ought to be an unwritten law forbidding whites and blacks from getting into the ring together and a law forbidding marriages between whites and blacks, but in the absence of such law, he thinks it is useless to blame Johnson, who is entitled to the honors of winning the championship and should not be made a scapegoat.

Assistant Attorney General Claims Violation of Railroad Commission Rate Law.

Austin, Aug. 25.—Assistant Attorney General Luther Nickels today filed suit in the Twenty-Sixth District court against the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railroad for alleged violation of the rules of the railroad commission regarding rates. It is claimed by the commission that the railroad in question levied a rate of 50c per 100 pounds between Galveston and Victoria when the rate should have been 40c, and that this rate was effective from September 28, 1911, to September 22, 1912. Penalties amounting to $5,000 is requested, together with a writ of mandamus demanding enforcement of the railroad commission rules.

LEO M. FRANK CONVICTED OF MURDER

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 25.—Leo M. Frank, convicted in today's slaying of Mary Phagan, showed no emotion when informed that the jury had found him guilty of first degree murder. His wife collapsed. A throng outside the court room cheered wildly when the verdict was announced. Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, who conducted the prosecution, was lifted to the shoulders of several men and carried through the crowd. Mounted policemen rode through the throng in an ineffectual attempt to stop the demonstration. Even Judge Roan was given an ovation when he appeared.

The case was given to the jury shortly after noon. About 5 o'clock a verdict was reached and read in the presence of the attorneys, newspaper men and court attaches. Spectators had been excluded. Frank, by agreement of counsel, was permitted to remain in his cell and was not told of the result for more than an hour. He received the news stolidly. His attorneys announced that a motion for a new trial will be filed immediately. Meanwhile, Judge Roan says, Frank will not be sentenced, possibly for several days.

Mary Phagan's body, bearing marks of violence, was found in the basement of the National Pencil factory on the morning of April 27.

Newt Lee, negro night watchman of the factory, who found the body, was arrested on suspicion. Superintendent Frank and several other employees were detained several days later. Among them was James Conley, negro sweeper. At Frank's trial Conley swore he had stood guard outside the factory office, while Frank was closeted with the pretty 14-year-old girl, and later helped Frank carry the body to the basement. The negro also charged the defendant with degeneracy.

Late in the afternoon the defendant denied all knowledge of the crime.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Beatrice, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILD, Beatrice, Neb.

The Other Case.

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but my husband thought I had better write to you and I did so, stating my symptoms. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Cary, Maine.

GAYNOR MAY TURN REPUBLICAN

Possibility of Mayor Leading Ticket for Re-election—Opposition to Fusion Slate.

New York, Aug. 25.—A turn in political events involving the suggestion that Mayor Gaynor, democrat, whom Tammany refused to renominate, might head the republican ticket through securing enough republican signatures to accomplish this at the primaries, caused adjournment today of a meeting of the county, judicial and (Manhattan Borough) designating committees. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

The republican city committee has already given its support to John Purroy Mitchell, collector of the port, democrat, the fusion candidate for mayor. It developed at the meeting today, however, that there is considerable sentiment among republicans opposed to the fusion slate to have Mayor Gaynor's name placed on the republican ballot through petition. The organizations which have announced their purpose to give the mayor an independent nomination are reported to be ready to place on that ticket several republicans in return for republican support for the mayor.

FERRILL TALKS ON HOOKWORM

TELLS DELEGATES TO CONGRESS ON SCHOOL HYGIENE OF THE DISEASE.

SAYS RACE IS DETORIORATING

Dr. Elliott Regrets Crowded Cities and the Noticeable Increase of Insanity.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Scientists and educators from all parts of the world assembled here today for the fourth international congress on school hygiene. The delegates numbered about 2,000. Welcome was extended by distinguished representatives of the nation, states and cities.

"Those who encroach in the work of human uplift," Secretary Wm. B. Wilson of the department of labor told the delegates on behalf of President Wilson and congress, "are frequently looked upon as dreamers, but the dreamers of today are the practical men of tomorrow. You have your dreams and out of those dreams will come a more perfect manhood and womanhood for future generations. School hygiene is one of the great problems of mankind."

School buildings and their equipment was the general topic of the sectional meetings and addresses were made by the representatives of four nations. Dr. John A. Ferrill of the Rockefeller sanitarium in Washington, in a paper on rural schools, declared that the work done in the south in connection with the hookworm disease indicated that its prevalence had made it a real world problem.

In three and one-half years the Rockefeller commission and health boards in eleven southern states had made 661,581 microscopic examinations for parasitic ova, he said. Of this number of persons, 329,575 were found to have hookworm. Private physicians treated 162,305 additional persons. As an indirect cause of death, Dr. Ferrill said, the hookworm probably has no equal. In many localities 80 to 100 per cent of the children in schools have been found to have the disease. The infected children make 50 per cent, or less progress than is made by a normal, healthy child.

Night Meeting.

At a general public meeting tonight addresses were made by Dr. Charles W. Elliott, president-emeritus of Harvard university, and Sir James Grant, president of the National Canadian Organizing committee. School life in the country, Sir James declared, offers a perfect safety valve for the rising generation.

Dr. Elliott said the progress of civilization of the last 100 years has worked terribly against the health and perpetuity of the whole race. This, he said, is seen in the reduced vitality of the multitudes that inhabit closely built cities, in the diminishing size of families, in the incapacity of many women for bearing and nursing children and in the disproportionate increase in the number of insane, the defective and the criminally inclined.

"Such cities as Paris, London, Berlin, New York and Chicago bear witness to the fact that modern civilization is all the time preparing and promoting its own destruction," he said. "It is a plain duty of the state to provide segregation of the defective, the insane and the habitual criminal in order to prevent the breeding of human beings from such stock. It is not yet clear how good breeding can be maintained among free men and women, but it is clear how bad breeding can and should be prevented."

"The outcome of this international congress should be the enlightenment of society concerning the means of defending civilization against the encroachments of decay and dissolution and the strengthening of the social resolution to put into execution all the measures which Christian ethics and the medical arts and sciences recommend. Among defensive measures against the factory system have brought on mankind, the subject of this comparatively new study—school hygiene—is of importance."

point tentatively selected for handing Thaw back across the border. In anticipation of this, the New York interests, it was said, were laying plans for his immediate detention on the warrants issued at Poughkeepsie charging Thaw with conspiring with Howard Barnum, the old Matteawan gatekeeper, and others, in his plot to escape. Whether the Vermont authorities will regard such a warrant as void, inasmuch as Thaw is legally a lunatic in New York, not chargeable, is problematical.

As a step in hatching his publicity campaign, Thaw gave to the local Sherbrooke daily today a personally prepared statement. In part it said: "In Vermont we know where there are good Americans and that—not on my account, but just from upright necessity—must allow any trickery to be used against anyone."

"In Matteawan I saw a good deal of an old Vermont lawyer, Arthur Austin. Mr. Austin may have suffered from a mental disturbance some years ago, but after 1908 he was sane, yet was kept apparently for life. In 1911 Mr. Austin, who already had been some three years, still was in the most hideous madhouse, with apparently no hope. In 1911 a friend and I started in and exposed abuses too painful to enter into."

Removes Sane Patients. "During these exposures we took out sane patients by writs, and though my influence was too small to help myself, it was great enough to help others. Mr. Austin was freed. For several months I gave him employment until early this year he went out West to the home of his son."

"From Mr. Austin I heard much of Vermont and would be glad to rest there were it not for going to my native state."

"Vermonters have communicated with counsel and me, and one thing is sure: 'No subterfuge from New York county can pull wool over their eyes.'"

SCHOOL DAYS NOT FAR OFF

Now is the Time to Have Your Child's Eyes Examined by Dr. W. B. B.
Georgia—Defective Eyes Greatly
Handicap Children in Their School Work.

School days will soon be here and it is said that many children will be obliged to enter their school work and take up the various studies without being properly equipped to do so.

The greatest handicap that pupils can be subjected to in their duties is the uncorrected errors of refraction. A boy or girl's eyesight may so handicap them in their work as to keep them at the foot of the class throughout the whole school term, whereas, if the errors were properly corrected by glasses they would be near, if not at, the head of their respective classes. We know of a child who changed from the dullest, most stupid pupil to the brightest scholar in the entire room after a few days' use of glasses.

Dr. W. B. Georgia's Composition Focusing lens method enables him to search out the child's refractive errors without the use of a mydriatic or other dangerous drugs in dilating. Dr. Georgia has hundreds of school children wearing glasses prescribed by him, and who are made happy from the first day they began the use of their glasses.

Take your children to this eminent eyesight specialist and let him tell you whether or not they need glasses.

Look for the big spectacle sign, Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co., optometrist and lens grinders—opposite Sangers Bros.

"Thaw's fellow citizens would be shocked if Canada yielded, where another state in the United States itself would not."

Aside from the row about the breakfast, Thaw had a clash with the old jail governor, La Force, over two old newspapers. The governor started to pick up a sheet that lay on the floor.

"Don't touch that paper!" cried Thaw.

"I was only going to remove it," said La Force. "Don't be angry with me."

Thaw took the paper from La Force. It had been folded so a picture of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw could be seen. "That paper is of great importance to me. I can't have it disturbed. As a matter of fact, I'm not angry, but I'm likely to be soon, unless a newspaper which was taken from my room yesterday is returned. If you don't get it for me I'll get it myself."

The prisoner got telegrams from two lawyers guaranteeing his security from extradition if he would come to their states. He also received about fifty letters of sympathy and free advice today.

startling developments are expected as a result of the work to be done by the grand jury, and these are awaited with interest. Some of the opinion that a clue as to the guilty party has already been found and that it will require very little time for the grand jury to return an indictment.

It seems to be generally understood that at least two or three days will be consumed by the special session of the grand jury and the extra session would, by law, expire at 12 o'clock next Saturday night. Hardly anyone believes that the grand jury will be in session all of this week.

Reward Now Totals $1,088. The total reward offered for the slayer of Frank Little now aggregates $1,088, and it has been stated that relatives of the dead man may increase this very materially. The Gatesville officers have been hard at work ever since the shooting took place, but if they have any clue that will be of material benefit they have kept the information to themselves thus far.

BREACH LIKELY IN SULZER RANKS

HERRICK SAYS HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH CHARGES AGAINST MURPHY.

TO PROCURE INDICTMENTS

Arnold Reiterates Statement That Investigation of Criminal Nature Will Be Pushed.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A possible breach in the ranks of Governor Sulzer's supporters was indicated by the statements late today of former Judge D. Cady Herrick, who leads the governor's legal forces in the impeachment matter that "counsel for Governor Sulzer have nothing to do with any alleged criminal proceedings against Charles F. Murphy, Senator Frawley or Assemblyman Levy, and are not pursuing any investigation of a criminal character against anyone."

On the other hand, Judge Lynn J. Arnold of New York and others in Albany in the confidence of Governor Sulzer, reiterated the declaration that steps to procure indictments already have been taken both in New York and Albany counties.

Color is lent to the claim that Governor Sulzer is not only cognizant of this move but entirely in accord with it, by a statement given out at the executive chamber today by a man who has been acting as his spokesman. This statement asserts unequivocally that Governor Sulzer will go before the grand jury in New York county if it requires his presence.

It also affirms that District Attorney Whitman of New York is familiar with the facts upon which indictments are sought. Neither of the rival claimants for the governorship was called upon to act upon any official matter of choice during the day.

Murphy Indicted.

New York, Aug. 25.—The indictment of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall; Aaron J. Levy, leader of the democratic majority in the assembly; and Senator James J. Frawley, chairman of the committee which investigated Governor Sulzer's campaign contributions, has been requested by the district attorneys of New York and Albany counties by L. F. Arnold of Albany, an ardent Sulzer supporter.

The indictment of the three leaders is asked on statements of many persons presented by Arnold to the district attorneys regarding an alleged conspiracy to put Sulzer out of the governorship. In so announcing, Judge Arnold repeated his declaration that money had been used freely to accomplish this result.

Judge Arnold, who is publisher of the Press-Kickerbocker-Express of Albany, said today.

"My newspaper has been friendly to Sulzer in this fight because we thought he was not getting a square deal. Because of this friendliness many persons have written to us and called at our office to tell us what they knew of a plot on the part of certain men whom I can not name now to disgrace Sulzer and put him out of the governor's chair."

"This evidence has been placed before competent lawyers and they believe with me that it is such as to warrant indictments in connection with the impeachment proceedings. As an instance of the number of men who are ready to testify, I will say that ten men came into our office Saturday afternoon with evidence relating to this plot. We believe that it is amply strong to warrant the indictment of Murphy, Levy and Frawley and others. I cannot say how many others now nor can I tell the nature of the charges."

"They go to show, however, that there was a conspiracy and a plot against Sulzer. More than that, they tend to prove a fiendish crime far greater than that."

"In part, it is in the hands of District Attorney Whitman and the district attorney of Albany county. They are considering it. What they think of it I am not at liberty to say. They will have more of it soon."

Sulzer Writes O'Neal.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 25.—Governor William Sulzer of New York has written Governor O'Neal in a lengthy letter in answer to the Alabama governor's invitation to attend the governors' conference in Colorado Springs.

"You have no conception of the number of obstacles in my way," wrote Governor Sulzer. "Neither have you any idea of the difficulties that beset me. Often I am sick at heart; but words of assurance like yours come to hand and I take renewed hope to go forward with determination—come what may."

"When the political boss found that he could not control me and make me a rubber stamp, he did everything in his power to destroy me politically. However, I have no fear of the ultimate result."

The grafters are hounding me. Mr. Murphy and his henchmen are traducing me and trying in every conceivable way to get mud to throw at me. "However, I can assure you there is little or nothing in the charges against me. Murphy says it will not in the least analysis hurt me; but they also know it disconcerts me and worries Mrs. Sulzer."

To these suggestions, through which the United States believes peace could be restored, Huerta has replied in the negative. Foreign governments generally since that rejection have been active supporters of the American policy to persuade Huerta to yield.

The delivery of the message is an essential factor in the program of the American government before the world.

No Drastic Action. It is not a preliminary to any drastic action, however. It is merely the announcement of a policy which will be maintained for years if necessary until constitutional government shall be re-established in Mexico.

The effect of the message, it is hoped by the administration officials, will be to convince the world of the sincere efforts of the United States to bring about peace and forestall pressure that might otherwise have been exerted by foreign governments for a sterner policy toward Mexico.

Having exhausted every avenue of influence on the Mexican authorities, the administration does not feel compelled to intervene by force of arms to establish its views. Every opportunity will be given to American citizens to withdraw from the danger zones and strict neutrality in shipment of arms will be observed.

The white house conference began at 8:30 o'clock.

The president's private office looked like a school room. Divans, davenports, sofas and chairs were arranged in equal rows in front of the president's desk. There were accommodations for the thirty-five members of the two committees, but they all did not come, some being absent from the city. It was the largest conference that had been held at the executive offices since the present administration began.

Secretary Bryan sat beside the president as the latter read his message. Those present from the senate committee were Senators Bacon, chairman; Stone, Clark of Arkansas, Shivers, Overman, Williams, Brannan, Pomerene, McComber, Lodge, Smith of Arizona and Borah of Idaho.

From the house committee there were Representatives Flood of Virginia, chairman; Cline of Indiana, chairman of Maryland, Dieffenbacher of Pennsylvania; Stedman of North Carolina; Harrison of Mississippi; Waller of Georgia, Cooper of Wisconsin and Temple of Pennsylvania.

The president cited in his message, as a precedent for the policy he proposed to pursue, the action of President Hayes, in withholding recognition from Diaz for more than a year after the latter had gained control of the Mexican government.

During tonight's conference the president read to the committee not only the full text of his own message, but the notes exchanged between John Lind and Huerta. One of the committee men said afterwards that the Huerta note, written by Foreign Minister Gamboa, was one of the finest state papers he had ever seen.

The conference adjourned a few minutes before 11 o'clock, after the president had read his message and listened to a free discussion for more than an hour. He had asked for suggestions and comments and nearly every one present had something to say.

Later the president let it be known there had been no suggestion that would necessitate any change in his plans.

AMERICANS KILLED. State Department Receives Notice of Attack on Madero Company, Washington, Aug. 25.—State department reports today telling of the attack by Mexican federalists upon employees of the Madero Lumber company at Madera, Mex., said that Edmond Hayes Jr. and a negro known as "Tom" were killed.

General Cordoba, commanding the federalists in that vicinity, immediately arrested all the men implicated in the attack, according to the report.

Hayes was killed, the consul at Chihuahua reported, by a bandit named Castillo, with a band which had recently allied itself with the forces of General Cordoba. Urgent instructions were sent to the consul at Chihuahua to see to the prompt and adequate punishment of those who committed this outrage on American citizens.

Part of Castillo's band attacked the Rabcora properties, a little south of Madera, which are owned by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst. The employees defended the property successfully, but during the fight several were killed on each side.

"The immediate and adequate protection" for this property has been ordered by the department.

The American embassy at Mexico City has been instructed to insist on the apprehension and punishment of twenty-three independent guerrillas who killed Ben Griffin, an American citizen, and assaulted another, Archer F. Parks, near Madera.

To prevent a threatened outbreak of smallpox, typhoid fever and scarlet fever at Torreon, where there has been severe fighting recently, the embassy at Mexico City was ordered to dispatch a special mission in charge of Dr. Edward W. Ryan, with medical supplies, whom inquiry has been made were reported safe.

British Subject Killed. Mexico City, Aug. 25.—The murder of Arthur Lawton, a British subject, and Eric von Thaden, a German, on Senor Eduardo Iturbide's ranch in western Michoacan was officially reported today. The British minister has sent notification to the home office. Lawton was well connected in England. He was related by marriage to Zella Nutt, the noted archeologist, formerly of San Francisco and now of Mexico, who holds the honorary professorship of archeology in the National Museum. Von Thaden's father was an American.

The two foreigners were employed at the ranch and at the time of their murder had in their possession a large amount of money for the payment of the men. They were robbed by their assassins, who are characterized as bandits, not rebels.

The government has promised the British minister that the murderers will be punished.

American Arrested. Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 25.—Stuart Hunt, an American ranch owner and employee of Sonora with two of his cowboys, were arrested today at Fort Huachuca, charged with being an enemy of the Sonora state government. They were imprisoned by order of Jose Maytorena, the insurgent governor.

Hunt was arrested because of a cattle deal. He is charged with having bought from a wealthy Mexican sympathizer cattle that had been seized by the state government. The American's offense consisted in not dealing with the state government directly.

American cattlemen on both sides of the frontier have taken up the question with constitutionalist leaders in an effort to effect Hunt's release.

Fight Resumed. Hermosillo, Mex., Aug. 25.—The fight above Guaymas was resumed at sunrise today by the federalists. Throughout the night cannonading from Guaymas was continued upon the insurgent positions in surrounding hills. Details of today's battle show a determined effort of the Huerta government troops to invade Central Sonora. Three advances were repulsed, according to the state reports. The rebel fire, however, failed to silence the cannon at Empalme.

Federal cavalry, assisted by marines from the gunboat Tampico, made the first charge. After first assembling nearly 2,000 men, another advance was attempted and failed.

The insurgent loss was stated officially as ten killed and ten wounded.

General Alfaro Obregon, commander of the state forces, and Col. Juan Cabral, a former Chihuahua rebel, left Hermosillo early today for the front.

Federals Retreat at Guaymas. Washington, Aug. 25.—The constitutionalist agency here tonight received the following telegram from J. Sanchez Azcona, secretary of state of Sonora:

"Advices report our troops compelled federals to retreat into Guaymas. Cannonading decreasing, but battle probably will be renewed in the morning. All going well."

ELLIOTT'S FIRST MEETING. Stormy Session in Directorate of New Haven Road.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 25.—Howard Elliott's first meeting today with the stockholders of the New Haven railroad of which he has been chosen as president, was a stormy session.

It was a special meeting, called to authorize the issuance of $47,552,400 in 4 per cent convertible debenture bonds to provide for the road's floating debt and several of the stockholders had warm words to say regarding the financial management of the road.

It developed that the financing of the bond issue, in charge of J. P. Morgan & Co., would cost 2 per cent and some of those present criticized this arrangement, declaring the same should have been offered to the stockholders first. Other speakers expressed surprise that the road had a floating debt and urged publicity in the financial affairs of the line.

The bond issue finally was approved by a vote of 900,000 shares.

Following their marriage in Shreveport, and their stop in Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Harris are due at home today. They will be with Mrs. Hemphill, on Austin near Seventeenth, to await the building of the bungalow which they will occupy on Fort Avenue. Mrs. Harris will receive cordial welcome into the social life of her new home.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER TWENTY-SECOND

For the convenience of absentees and those who may not have noticed the announcement in the report of the last school board meeting, it is officially announced that our public school opens Monday, September 22nd. This is one week later than heretofore, due probably to the unfinished condition of the additions to the school building. It is the fact that the third Monday this year falls near the first of September than in several previous years.

ANNOUNCEMENT CARDS COME FROM LOS ANGELES

Following her wedding at Los Angeles, the bride concerned has remembered her old home friends with engraved cards which read:

Mr. and Mrs. James Hanzel Wood announce the marriage of their daughter Ruth Harrington to

Mr. Harry Harlan Belden on Tuesday the twelfth day of August one thousand nine hundred and thirteen Los Angeles, California.

MISS ELEANOR WRAGG SENDS TO COTTON PALACE

As president of the Art League, Mrs. A. H. Newman is already busy in locating rare pieces of art and soliciting the same for the Cotton Palace. Among others, Mrs. Newman has written Miss Eleanor Wragg, whose miniatures have received national commendation, favorable of course. Mrs. Edgar Witt is now the guest of Miss Wragg for two weeks in the latter's cottage in Connecticut. She writes that Miss Wragg tells her she will send some of her work to the Cotton Palace. This will be like meeting an old friend, for Miss Wragg's residence in the Baylor university colony is fresh in pleasurable remembrance.

With her invalid sister, Miss Wragg now resides permanently in her tiny cottage at Stony Point. Mrs. Witt describes the outlook from the cottage as a bit of Mediterranean view repeated in America. War ships are now cruising around Long Island sound and one point of view is the Wragg cottage for sale. The weather has reached our late autumn temperature already. The New Haven Register has an editor browsing out among the summer colonies. She happened upon Miss Wragg in her cozy little home and in the Register.

"In a beautiful, artistic home, away up in one of the many picturesque spots along the Branford shore, a home which the owner speaks of as 'simple.' The Register correspondent stumbled upon one of the most charming women the past week. An artist, whose work has had honorable mention in art journals, and her pictures and miniature portraits a place in the national galleries, but a woman so unaffected and modest about her great talents that one has to feel like saying 'not so easy to find.' It is a word about herself or her work."

"Miss Eleanor T. Wragg finds so much of the atmosphere she loves among the woods, islands and sea, surrounding Stony Creek, that she is willing to live in almost perfect seclusion, supremely happy in her work and environment."

SOME TIMELY NOTES AMONG THE SCHOOLS

It is always timely with the beginning of September to talk about school in general. In this case, the mothers are returning to make ready for another winter of school for the little folks. Other mothers are arranging wardrobes and otherwise making ready for the college daughter and son to depart. The teachers are winding up vacation days, and getting ready for resuming duty. So, it is always that the late August and early September means school topics. Of these we find some in Waco to be:

Miss Frances Hays is returning for her second year at the Emma Willard school in New York. Bowden Hays is returning to his Princeton classes. These are leaving within the coming week to take water passage from New Orleans for the east.

With the last of September, Miss Margaret Sleeper is leaving to take a school in New York. In June, she is leaving for Staunton, Virginia. This is the school where the mother, Mrs. William Sleeper, was educated.

Miss Mary Farrell, who was at school in Virginia late last year, is entering the State university this winter.

Jeane McLendon is entering Cornell without examination, owing to his high record at Culver, Indiana.

On the fifth of September, Mrs. William Neale is leaving with W. J. Neale, Jr., who enters school in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Louis Wells has postponed her summer outing to a later date in order that she might accompany to Culver her son, William Wells, for his first year.

Miss Rowena Barnett will return to the State University, from which she takes her degree in June.

Miss Harriet Moore, who taught in the El Paso school last year, is leaving with the last of this week to assume class duties with the Temple school.

Miss Jennie Moore of South Fifth who attended the San Marcos Normal, is not due at home until the beginning of the public school.

Miss Lilla Davis, of South Third, who took a late summer outing, is finding Mineral Wells so pleasant that she has twice extended the time for her return home.

Miss Patty Casaday, who took special music study in Chicago, is returning to the music supervision of the Corsicana public school early in September.

Miss Annie Forsgard, who has spent the entire summer in study at the Chicago University, is due at home with the last of the present week, when she joins her mother, Mrs. C. O. Forsgard, in a seaside outing at Galveston.

The Misses Hoffman, who are visiting in Iowa, return to open their dancing classes with the first of October.

Miss Emma Culbertson, of South Sixth, will return to her classes at West early in the coming week.

Miss Mary Anderson is now due fresh from a year's piano study in Germany to take her classes in the music department of Baylor university.

Miss Susie Markham Jones, who has studied for the past year in Columbia university doing post-graduate work and specializing in French, will be in Waco with September to open private French classes.

The coming week will note the departure for El Paso of Miss Ruth Evans, who has spent the summer with her parents on South Fourth.

Miss Lucy May Johnson has spent the entire summer traveling in the interest of Lennox Hall, St. Louis. She will return for her school duties here.

Miss Miriam Schuler, who has toured the east, will not be at home until middle September.

Miss Susie Sleeper, who had been in the west as far as Idaho, was called to Texas sooner than expected by the sickness of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Sleeper, in Abilene. Miss Sleeper does not reach Waco until after middle September.

Miss Mary Gallagher, by doing extra summer study, is returning to the State University for her final year.

Miss Isabel Edmond has joined Mrs. W. E. Darden and Miss Grace Prather at Fayetteville, Ark. for her last month's vacation.

On Friday of this week, Miss Sallie Tidwell of South Eighth will leave to assume school duties at Maria.

Miss Mary Lambdin, who has spent the season in the east, and who is now with relatives in Boston, does not reach home until September 16th.

Miss Mabel Quay, who specialized in summer music study, is at home from Chicago. She is granted a year's leave on account of her indifferent health.

Miss Bessie Davidson will spend the winter at the San Marcos Normal. Miss Ruby Jones of the Sanger Avenue school will also be at the San Marcos.

The Misses Charlotte Shumate and Clarence Bruce Brewer who are now closing their delightful West Texas visit, return with the present week. Miss Brewer makes immediate preparation to go for her second year at St. Mary's, Dallas.

Miss Virginia Lazenby, one of the 1913 high school graduates, leaves to enter school at Sweet Brier, Virginia.

Willard Wigley, who graduated from Fairbairn, Minnesota, in June will remain here to begin business life.

Miss Marian Duncan, who returned late in the vacation from school in Washington City, is remaining for her debutante year.

The Misses Sallie Cartwright and Lalla Fay Lacy are returning with middle September to Monticello Seminary, Illinois.

Miss Vashlie Hubby spends the winter doing study at Columbia University, New York.

Society Notes.

Just so we do not get on all the sashes and jewelry and linger for the morning shopping. Why not leave a little for the summer ball room and the afternoon, where these are appropriate?

Monday, Mrs. Norman Smith becomes matron of her own home, just purchased, out on Parrott avenue.

With the first of September, the Misses Horne leave for a six weeks' visit with their cousins, Mrs. Mary Lou Myster Miller and Mrs. Bessie Pogue Love, in Memphis.

Mrs. Mary Evans, with the Misses Mann of Mart, are now homeward bound. They have been in New York state and are returning by way of seeing Chicago sights. After this, the Misses Mann go direct to Mart, while Mrs. Evans stops for a month's visit with Dr. and Mrs. George Evans at Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Lee of Houston are in Martin, where Mr. Lee is taking the hot baths. Mrs. Lee has been up for old home visits once or twice.

Miss Lady Chatham, in whom the friends of her childhood here are always interested, is returning to school this winter at Randolph-Macon, Virginia.

Mrs. Harold Gray is returning from Milwaukee, to resume residence in Dallas. In the change she has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. G. W. Randall on West avenue. Mrs. J. P. Boone is soon, too, to reside in Dallas. Mr. Boone having been appointed to a position which will take him from Wichita Falls.

Miss Mary Evans Brown of Dallas, who was the past week's guest of Mrs.

William Sleeper, is with Miss Nettie Aubrey for a few days before her homecoming.

With her return from Michigan on Monday, Mrs. J. H. Lockwood took possession of her cottage on North Sixteenth, which she has not occupied for two years.

Are you ordering your groceries and other supplies for the day immediately after breakfast? If you are, you are doing something for the relief of the overworked, maltreated delivery animal.

The debutante list for Waco has now reached eight, all attractive girls and all with the promise of being popular.

Mrs. J. B. Powell of the South Side sends cards of greeting from Buffalo. She is taking a late season outing and writes that every moment is one of pleasure.

If we watch our post cards closely, we will get many ideas for beautifying our own home.

The whist and euchre tournaments as civic and philanthropic benefits are by no means abandoned. However, conservative Waco has never indulged. These are No. 1 money makers for any cause not religious.

"The school" is now the proper expression for our little penny turners with cakes and candies. And, we must always use the correct term, else we will not attract the proper attention to our wares.

Mrs. D. Brinkerhoff, who has spent several weeks with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrington, is leaving with Thursday for her home in St. Louis. She and Mr. Brinkerhoff then pay a short visit to the mother in Springfield, Ill.

Miss Nell Sue Whitman, who has been visiting with friends in Waxahachie, is now on a tour of the Sunday school sessions through Texas. She will not return home until the opening of the city school.

The other day we were noting one of the gay and giddy life scenes depicted on a Watteau canvas. The subject was rather risqué, we must admit, but that is the characteristic of Watteau. That which attracted most attention was the man behind an old-fashioned swing in which the woman of fashion was enjoying her motion by means of ropes leading from each swing rope to the hands of the man servant. By this means he propelled the swing. The idea came, why not revive this with our present-day swings?

Now that the harvest moon is here, it is time for the old-fashioned hay rides. And if these are indulged, they should be done in gaily decorated wagons, not on the old-fashioned swing.

Quite rapidly now the shutters are opened and the shades raised. We are returning from our summer trips.

Verily, there is consolation for all things. The woman who has no jewels is not in terror of the international thief syndicate, who has designs only on the precious stones. In Chicago, the women, realizing that colored stones are not becoming, are wearing fones rather than ever before.

But, with that inconsistency of which woman is ever accused, she desires more in proportion to wearing less.

We are growing restless to hear what we are to have by way of good theatre attractions this season. Is it not nearing the time for publication of the list?

In borrowing a book two annoyances are involved, those from the lender who does not have his book returned and from the borrower who forgets who the owner is. Therefore, it is imperative that the moment a new book goes on the home library shelf it should have written within the full name of the owner. This will be a reminder to the borrower, who might forget as well as assist him in case several borrowed books are in that home. In this connection there are now available at the book stores attractive plates which one may buy by the dozen and fill the blanks for the home book.

Among the matrons, the prospect of housework is a new thing. Heights homes is Mrs. Temple Morrow, who is now in Quana.

Mrs. Henry Trantham, the bride of just a few weeks, in the J. W. Downer cottage on South Fifth, is soon to have her new home built on Tenth and James.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lacy, with Miss Nancy Lacy, have joined Mrs. F. L. Miller in Sphram, Wisconsin. The party does not return home before the middle of September.

Society Personals.

Mrs. Fay Hickman Smith of Fort Worth is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. G. Lilly on North Fifth street.

After an absence from the city of several weeks, Mrs. Milton Strauss of Terrace Row is at home.

Among the Monday arrivals was that of Mrs. J. H. Lockwood, who had summered in the Adirondacks and the Great Lakes.

The Mesdames J. T. Harrington and A. D. Brinkerhoff of South Eighth are at home from their visit to Mrs. Sparke Durham in Houston.

Miss Lena Mae Nelms of Georgetown, S. C., is at home.

STOCK LAW IS VOTED UPON

Citizens in Precinct No. 1 of Bell County to Prohibit Loose Stock.

Temple, Aug. 25.—As the result of a stock law election held Saturday in Justice Precinct No. 1 of Bell county, outside the city of Belton, two of the three boxes heard from give an overwhelming majority in favor of the prohibiting of live stock running at large. The third box has not reported, but its figures cannot change the result.

SLAVERY IN PHILIPPINES. Children Are Captured and Sold Into Bondage.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Slavery in the Philippines, even in the most remote islands, and peonage is general in the islands, according to a special report Commissioner Dean Worcester has made to the insular government. It has not been received here at the war department, but copies are in the hands of other officials.

Philippines in some parts of the islands capture children and sell them into slavery for profit; some are sent to China, where they are dressed in the native fashion. Some children have been enticed from their homes by slave agents upon promises of scholarships in schools and some of these in an instance which Mr. Worcester reports in detail were sold and others were farmed out for money. He cites the sale of a 13-year-old girl, bought for some pigs, rice, chickens and a cloak.

The supreme court of the islands refused to hear a case, but here it is said that no crime had been committed and because no physical force had been used. This case, Mr. Worcester says, has blocked other slavery prosecutions.

The Philippine assembly has blocked laws for the suppression of the traffic, he says, because many of its members come from provinces where slavery flourishes. One of his reports on the traffic, he says, lies tabled in the Philippine assembly.

Mr. Worcester declares he had great difficulty in getting facts of slave cases, and intimates that reports were withheld by the officers of the Philippine assembly. He cites the case of a Philippine assemblyman caught red handed owning a slave in Manila and says:

"I could obtain conclusive proof of a hundred, a thousand, ten thousand of them, but why multiply cases. It is simply a case of time and work."

He charges that the Philippine assemblymen maintain peonage on their own farms.

In Interest of Philippines. Washington, Aug. 25.—Whatever is done by the United States with respect to the Philippine Islands is to be gauged by the best interests of the people of the archipelago and not by what may be construed as selfish purposes of the American government.

That is the view President Wilson and Francis Burton Harrison, newly appointed governor, take of the question of the Philippine independence, according to the white house today.

The president believes the United States in the profoundest sense is the trustee of the Philippines and to carry out its trusteeship wisely is the keynote of the policy of his administration.

It was indicated that while no proposal for immediate independence was now considered, a policy of active preparation for granting independence within a few years would be pursued by the United States.

PLAINVIEW CASE CONTINUED

Trial of Mrs. Muncy is Not Taken Up on Account of Contempt Charge.

Plainview, Texas, Aug. 25.—The trial of Mrs. Birdie Muncy and Horace Peters, charged with murdering Mrs. Muncy's husband, J. M. Muncy, at Lockhart, which was scheduled to open today, was continued until the January term of court on motion of the district attorney.

The continuation was asked because an appeal from a contempt charge on which the small son of Mrs. Muncy was jailed when he refused to testify is pending in a higher court.

The Home Beauty Parlor

L. M. P.: You are unduly alarmed about the seeming coarseness of your complexion. The sun and wind are hard on delicate skins, and maybe you have used some injurious face powder. Here is a preparation which will serve the double purpose of cleansing your skin of the sallow, muddy look and whitening it in the way the best powder cannot. It is natural in effect and will cling and look like a part of your skin. Dissolve 4 ounces of spumax in 1/2 pint hot water, adding 2 teaspoonsful glycerine. This gives you a beautiful velvet-like complexion, besides preventing skin-defects.

Queenie: Yes, dotted vells are bad for the eyes, but I hardly think that is your whole trouble. You need tonic to rest and strengthen the eyes which ache from over-strain. Here is a formula you can mix at home at slight cost: Dissolve an ounce of crysols in a pint of water and put 2 drops in each eye daily. It is soothing to inflamed lids, relieves eyes of redness and is a great help.

wear glasses. If your lids are puffy and dark underneath, this daily treatment will be of immense benefit.

Bella Will: Yes, it surely is alarming when you begin to grow too fat to wear your best gown. But here is a flesh reducer which I have never known to fail. Get 4 ounces of parnosol (all druggists have it) and dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints hot water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. This is the best and safest way to get rid of that super

CITY MANAGER.

Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, in the Fort Worth Record, does not fall in line for the "city manager" which is proposed in Dallas and one or two other places. Editor Fitzgerald says:

James A. Florer of Dallas is a labor leader and a charter maker. He is well known in that city and the amendment to the charter of Dallas recommends a government similar to that of Dayton, Ohio. Five Commissioners are to be elected and the new commissioners are to select a city manager, the salary of the latter to be fixed by ordinance. There is another name for Mr. Florer's new government head. In the Latin-Indian countries they call him a dictator. He is the autocrat of all. Do the people of a city need guardians or do they need public servants?

While we are not prepared to endorse the Dayton plan, we do believe that Mr. Editor Fitzgerald is rather extreme in his view. In Latin-Indian countries, the dictator is not of the same character as is suggested by the Dallas charter. If the people elect five commissioners, and control them, why should they not elect a business manager, or city manager if that name is used? As it is today, the mayor is supposed to be the head of the administration. He can accomplish nothing without the consent of the commissioners; with four commissioners and a mayor, the executive presides, signs checks, makes recommendations and outlines policies which are to be considered by the four commissioners. There is an engineer at the head of one department, a police chief at the head of another, a doctor at the head of another, a tax gatherer at the head of another, and these various departments reach the governing body through the several commissioners to whom they are subordinate.

Suppose there are five commissioners, elected by the people, and these commissioners select a general manager, just as the directors of any big corporation select a manager. Let this manager investigate the needs, the conditions and the expenditures, and from time to time make his report to the commissioners. In minor matters the manager could act; in questions of policy, in budget, in tax rate, the commissioners would act and instruct him. He would be trained to municipal business affairs, and would take up every detail, and these details could be carried out by the subordinates of the various departments. No laws would be passed except by the commissioners; no money demanded of the people except by the commissioners, and no expenditures made except that they approve. On the face of it the scheme looks like a pretty good business policy, but it will be a long time before it is generally adopted. Whether we want it here we are not prepared to say, but in this day when efficiency is being sought in all kinds of business affairs, it would not be out of order for the municipal corporations to try for the maximum of efficiency, just as private corporations are doing.

IS SAVING JUSTIFIED.

Figuring the saving that was made by the veto of various items of the appropriation bill, the Dallas News estimates that it is 8 cents per week per capita and wonders in its questioning if it is worth it. The News says:

The appropriation bills, as they came to the hands of our governor, directed the expenditure of $15,250,000. This for two years. The appropriation bills, as they left the hands of our governor, seem to have authorized the expenditure of $3,429,325 less. This, also, for two years. Or, out of the fullness of a generous, and even charitable heart, let us say that our governor has saved the four million and more of us, the equivalence of something like the sum of 8c a week during an interval of two years. But, of course, all of us are not, directly, ad valorem taxpayers, although, indirectly, all of us are, so that it may be thought there is some injustice in making a per capita apportionment of our governor's parsimonious impulse. Accordingly, we descend to the language of property. In translating the facts into that jargon, we find that for the man who pays on an assessment of $2,000, the governor's intervention has saved something like ten bits a year, rather less than that, since ten bits would be $1.25. Let those to whose ears the clink of that small change is music applaud the musician. Let those who have hearts attuned to the more subtle sound of human misfortune and aspiration manifest their emotions as they will. We at least shall be satisfied with the resultant of these conflicting demonstrations.

The tax rate had to be high, even with the appropriations scaled, and certainly the amount saved by the veto would not have made much of a difference between the present 23 cents ad valorem and that which would have been the figure. The main regret is that we had a period of 4 cents and 6 cents as a tax rate, that failed to produce enough for the running expenses of the government and has carried forward a debt from one year to the next, that the subsequent higher tax rate has had to meet. Not only will the educational institutions suffer and eleemosynary institutions be deprived of the equipment and facilities which they need, but there are many private claimants who ought to be paid what the state owes them. The veto of the miscellaneous appropriation bill prevents the payment of many debts which are held against the state. Why should the state repudiate these claims? There is a stenographer in this county to whom the state is indebted, there are officials in other counties to whom the state is indebted, and these people ought to have their money. It is assumed the state owes them, else the provision to pay them should never have been incorporated in the bill.

But these are but features of the veto. As a general proposition is the dignity of the state upheld by scaling a few million dollars from the full amount when the state is now in a period of development that means an increase of its wealth.

The Houston Post, the most faithful of the governor's friends, thinks the executive made the mistake of his life in cutting the appropriations as he did. The Post says that by "permitting the appropriations to stand, he could have retired from office at the conclusion of his term leaving the state government and all of its institutions in first class condition and at the highest point of efficiency yet attained."

The Post says further:
 The people that the increase would have rested upon most heavily are the disappointed. In the case of Houston it would have been added to an increase of 35 cents in the city rate and 17 cents in the county rate and yet Houston was anxious for the state to go forward. We can say with certainty that the same is true of the people of such counties as Dallas, McLennan, Travis, Bexar, Galveston, Tarrant, Jefferson, El Paso and many others, where taxes are from four to five times as much as in the rural counties whose people are more able to pay the increase that the appropriations would have entailed.

While there have been many who did not believe that Harry K. Thaw was insane when he was confined in Matteawan, they are beginning to believe since he escaped that he in reality has the "crack in his ceiling" to which the New York Sun refers. Given a motor car and a good driver, he had a chance to go as far as he liked had he been content to drop behind the curtains and the seat and remained out of the line light, but as he insisted upon parading himself before those who watched his flight from the roadside, he was trailed along the route which his driver selected. When he met the officer from New Hampshire who was, of course, on the lookout, he disclosed his identity in a spirit of bravado, assuming in his own weak mind that he was safe from pursuit, and finally since he is under arrest, he scorns the advice of his lawyers and refuses to follow the procedure they endeavor to outline, expecting to carry on a publicity campaign. All of these things suggest that possibly Harry ought to be back in the mad house.

WHO CAN GET A MAJORITY?

Should a senatorial vacancy occur in Texas, according to the provisions of the new law, the governor shall within ten days issue writs of election to fill such vacancy, which election shall be held not less than sixty days after the vacancy occurs. Five thousand dollars is the maximum sum the candidate is permitted to spend in the campaign preceding the nomination. A majority, and not a plurality, vote nominates. Should a second election be necessary, the candidate is permitted to spend an additional $1,000.

This new election law, of course, will not affect the general public as much as will those laws which provide for filling other vacancies, because the men who are likely to be candidates for the United States senate are so numerous that a scramble for the office will not follow a vacancy. Texas is a big state and there are long distances for travel in reaching the voters with personal appeals. The automobile has made it possible for the candidate to cover much territory in a comparatively short time, but with it all there are but few speaking days in a campaign and just so many speeches can be made in the limited time. Will the candidate spend his $5,000 in campaign literature or in motor trips? If in campaign literature, he can circulate but little with that limited sum.

The majority vote is another feature that will deter some of those who might be looking for the chance to sit in the highest legislative body. No man in Texas, no matter how astute in political knowledge, could today name three candidates, anyone of whom could win by a majority vote. If there are more than two candidates in the race. That majority is an unknown factor, not only to candidates themselves, but to the voters and the political leaders. Who is there who stands out before his fellowmen so prominently that he can be assured of a majority, when the opposition is divided? We cannot think of one today.

If the city commission does invite the property owners to express an opinion about the character of paving they want, let them look about at the work that has been done before, saying what they think will be the best. Permanent paving will be down for a long time and it ought to be good.

Come to think of it, we are all talking about "industrial currency," "agricultural currency" and "commercial currency," but will we get any of it when it is finally decided the brand that is to be put on it? Will our per capita increase?

TO ELECTRIFY ON LARGE SCALE.

Change Government Liner From Steam to Electric.

(New York Times Analyst.)

The Victorian Railway commission has decided upon the electrification of the government railways in and about Melbourne, including the immediate extension of the line to the city and its immediate suburban environs and 160 miles of directly connecting steam railway running to two points 160 and 60 miles away. The commission's ultimate view of electrifying their other steam connections as soon as their density of traffic makes this extension economical. This is probably the most extensive single electrification project yet announced, measured in miles.

After getting electric manufacturing concerns all over the world to submit competitive estimates accompanied by guarantees that after getting started the cost will be no more than the estimates, the plan was finally decided to be not only practicable but that electrical economies would be sufficient to meet, at 4 per cent, the charges on the cost of conversion.

The Melbourne enterprise is of great interest, because it has brought into light measures of real costs in big electrification work. It shows how far, within the few years since the Baltimore & Ohio, the New Haven and the New York Central lines of America and the early European electric heavy-railways pioneered and paid the early losses on mistakes, the art and science having to do with heavy electrification have advanced and standardized. The direct-current system has been adopted by the Victorian authorities because, for their particular case, they found it would cost less to install and less to maintain and that the economic advantage of that system would show further advantages with increase of traffic.

The figure in the case of the steam electrification are based on business expected in 1920, for the electrification of the steam line and that of the tramways and will be complete about then. Speeds are to be 20 per cent higher for passenger trains and 40 per cent higher for freight trains. The line for which figures are given is 160 miles long. Sixty-eight electric locomotives are provided for. Comparing steam and electric operation would cost $1,802,155 in 1915, with increases in traffic expected, while electric operation would cost only $1,175,000. Electrification would cost $10,917,100. Assuming no increase in traffic as a result of electrification it figures a decrease of $525,000 a year in expenses as a result of electrification. But if it brings expected increases, after allowing for interest and sinking fund, profits as a result of electrifying the commission says will exceed $1,750,000 after 1917.

There's the Per Diem.

(Fort Worth Record.)

Certainly parties to a Texas senate seat contest that was decided about four legislative days before adjournment should be allowed all kinds of public money for the trouble to which they've been put and their services to the State.—Waco Morning News.
 It has time and again been charged that it was the per diem allowed contestants, and not the justice of their case that has led up to many contests of seats in the legislature of this and other States. The right or wrong in the practice is still a debatable question with many people who take deep interest in state affairs.

Wanted a Season Ticket.

At a certain college in the north of England the male students were not permitted to visit the resident lady boarders. One day a male student was caught in the act of doing so, and was court-martialed.
 The head master, addressing him, said: "Well, Mr. Blank, the penalty for the first offense is 50 cents, for the second $2.50, for the third $5, and so on, up to $15."

"How much would a season ticket cost?"

U. S. Marine Corps Better Prepared Than Ever Before

Washington, Aug. 25.—While the United States marine corps has not been preparing for any particular emergency, officials declare today that that branch of the service has been made so mobile that on a few hours' notice it could start for any place its services were needed. This applies in general to the entire personnel of the corps, but more particularly to that portion stationed at Philadelphia. From that station 1,000 marines in barracks will be ready to take transport and sail on the shortest possible notice. So far as the men themselves are concerned every one would be at their posts with their paraphernalia within two hours after a call came; every man would be in line for the marine corps is one branch of the fighting service of the nation which is filled up to the last man, of the 9,922 marines, not counting officers, many more are stationed at Philadelphia than at any other point. At Norfolk there are almost 700, but many are recruits, not ready without at least ten days' training.

The special preparedness of the marines at Philadelphia is due to the advance base training given them there. Speed is the element that enters to a greater degree probably than any other in this training. An hour's loss of time in reaching some particularly desired strategic point in an enemy's territory or elsewhere might give the enemy an advantage which might mean weeks of hard fighting. For this reason the necessity for speed in answering every call is instilled by constant practice. As to provisioning a transport to carry marines from Philadelphia, it is believed all the food needed for an extended trip could be taken aboard in considerably less than twelve hours' time. Should a call come in the morning a transport could be on its way by nightfall.

A demonstration on a large scale of the efficiency of the organization is to be held. The old army transport Hancock is being overhauled and turned into a navy transport. She is to be sent to Philadelphia from New York and some time next fall. A given signal, the full resources of the "advance base" are to be called into practice.

A thousand marines are to be ordered into the transport, which will have been loaded with non-perishable food supplies, field artillery, tentage, medical supplies, even wagons and possibly livestock, constituting a complete miniature army.

This expedition will be rushed probably to Guantanamo. At every step time will be taken to establish a standard for a successful landing expedition upon the shore of a hostile country.

DEMENTED MAN TAKES HORSE AND RACES IT THREE MILES.

Drives Breakneck Speed Along Public Highway and Up the Main Street of the City.

Marlin, Aug. 25.—A demented Mexican named Manuel Martinez created intense excitement Sunday morning by dashing up Live Oak street at breakneck speed behind a livery stable horse, drawing a buggy. Witnesses of the sight were uncertain for a brief time whether the horse was running away or whether the Mexican was being pursued with his life at stake. The Mexican applied the lash to the horse and never drew the rein until he had rounded up on the public square. The rig was the property of J. J. Thompson & Co. If it hadn't been one of their best horses the horse would have died as a result, it is believed.

Martinez took the horse from a hitch post three miles east on the road to the Kyser place. The horse was secured from the livery stable by E. A. Hernandez, another young Mexican from Knox county, who came here to visit friends. Hernandez drove out Sunday morning, hitched the horse and went into a friend's house for a visit. Martinez had driven a mile out, and when Hernandez went into the house he took the horse and buggy and started for Marlin in a hurry.

Martinez was placed in the city calaboose by Marshal Arnett, but was later transferred to the county jail. He will be tried on a lunny charge.

ABEEL TO OPEN OLD CITY WELL

GETS PERMISSION FROM THE WATER BOARD FOR NOM-INAL RENTAL

TO SUPPLY CASTLE HOME

Water Main to Be Laid on Lyle Avenue for Sprinkling—Larger Quarters Are Needed.

At its regular meeting last night the city waterworks board granted Alfred Abeel the use of the old well at the corner of Columbus and Twenty-ninth streets, granted the petition of J. A. Craven and eleven other signers to have a two-inch water main laid on Lyle avenue between Fifteenth and Eighteenth streets, and discussed the advisability of seeking new quarters for the waterworks department.

The request of Alfred Abeel for the use of the well at the corner of Twenty-ninth and Columbus was presented to the board by Superintendent Quay, who stated that the well had not been used by the city for several years. He further stated that it would be necessary for anyone using it to first clean out some tools that had been dropped in it while it was being drilled.

It was cited by Chairman Sleeper that one of the city's wells is already in use under conditions similar to those asked by Mr. Abeel. The Huaco club pays five dollars a year for the use of a well, to be returned to the use of the city upon request. This corporation maintains its own pumping plant, bore all the expense of piping the water to its property and pays only a nominal sum to make the contract bona fide.

Superintendent Quay explained that it was the desire of Mr. Abeel to install a plant at the Columbus street well and pipe the water to his home, the Castle home in course of construction, in the west part of town. He asked for the use of the well with due notice of the intention of the city to take charge of it if such step became necessary in the future, or if the location is sold.

The matter of offering the lots for sale to Mr. Abeel was then generally discussed, most of the commissioners favoring selling him the lots outright. But Chairman Sleeper expressed the opinion that their market value now would not justify their sale in view of the rising tendencies of land values in Waco, so the discussion reverted back to the first proposition.

On the motion of Commissioner Frank Coates, it was unanimously voted to offer Abeel the use of the well under two conditions: First, that he pay five dollars a year for its use, and give possession without notice, but upon demand from the city; second, that he pay $25 yearly for its use, and be granted a 90-day notice of the city's possession.

It was decided by the board that the additional $20 would balance any loss that the city might incur by inability to give immediate possession in case of the sale of the property on which the well is located.

Water on Lyle Avenue.
J. A. Craven appeared before the board as the representative of those citizens living on Lyle avenue between Eighteenth and Fifteenth streets and presented a petition that a two-inch main be laid on Lyle avenue between those streets bounding the petitioners on the east and west.

This, Craven explained, was desired primarily for sprinkling purposes. He stated that the only available water in that neighborhood at present is a well on Lyle avenue, which is used for irrigation. Nearly all the homes affected are new and the owners are making an effort to beautify their lawns, which they cannot do under present conditions. He stated further that the water supply from the well is rapidly, and that would be only a short time until another supply would become absolutely necessary.

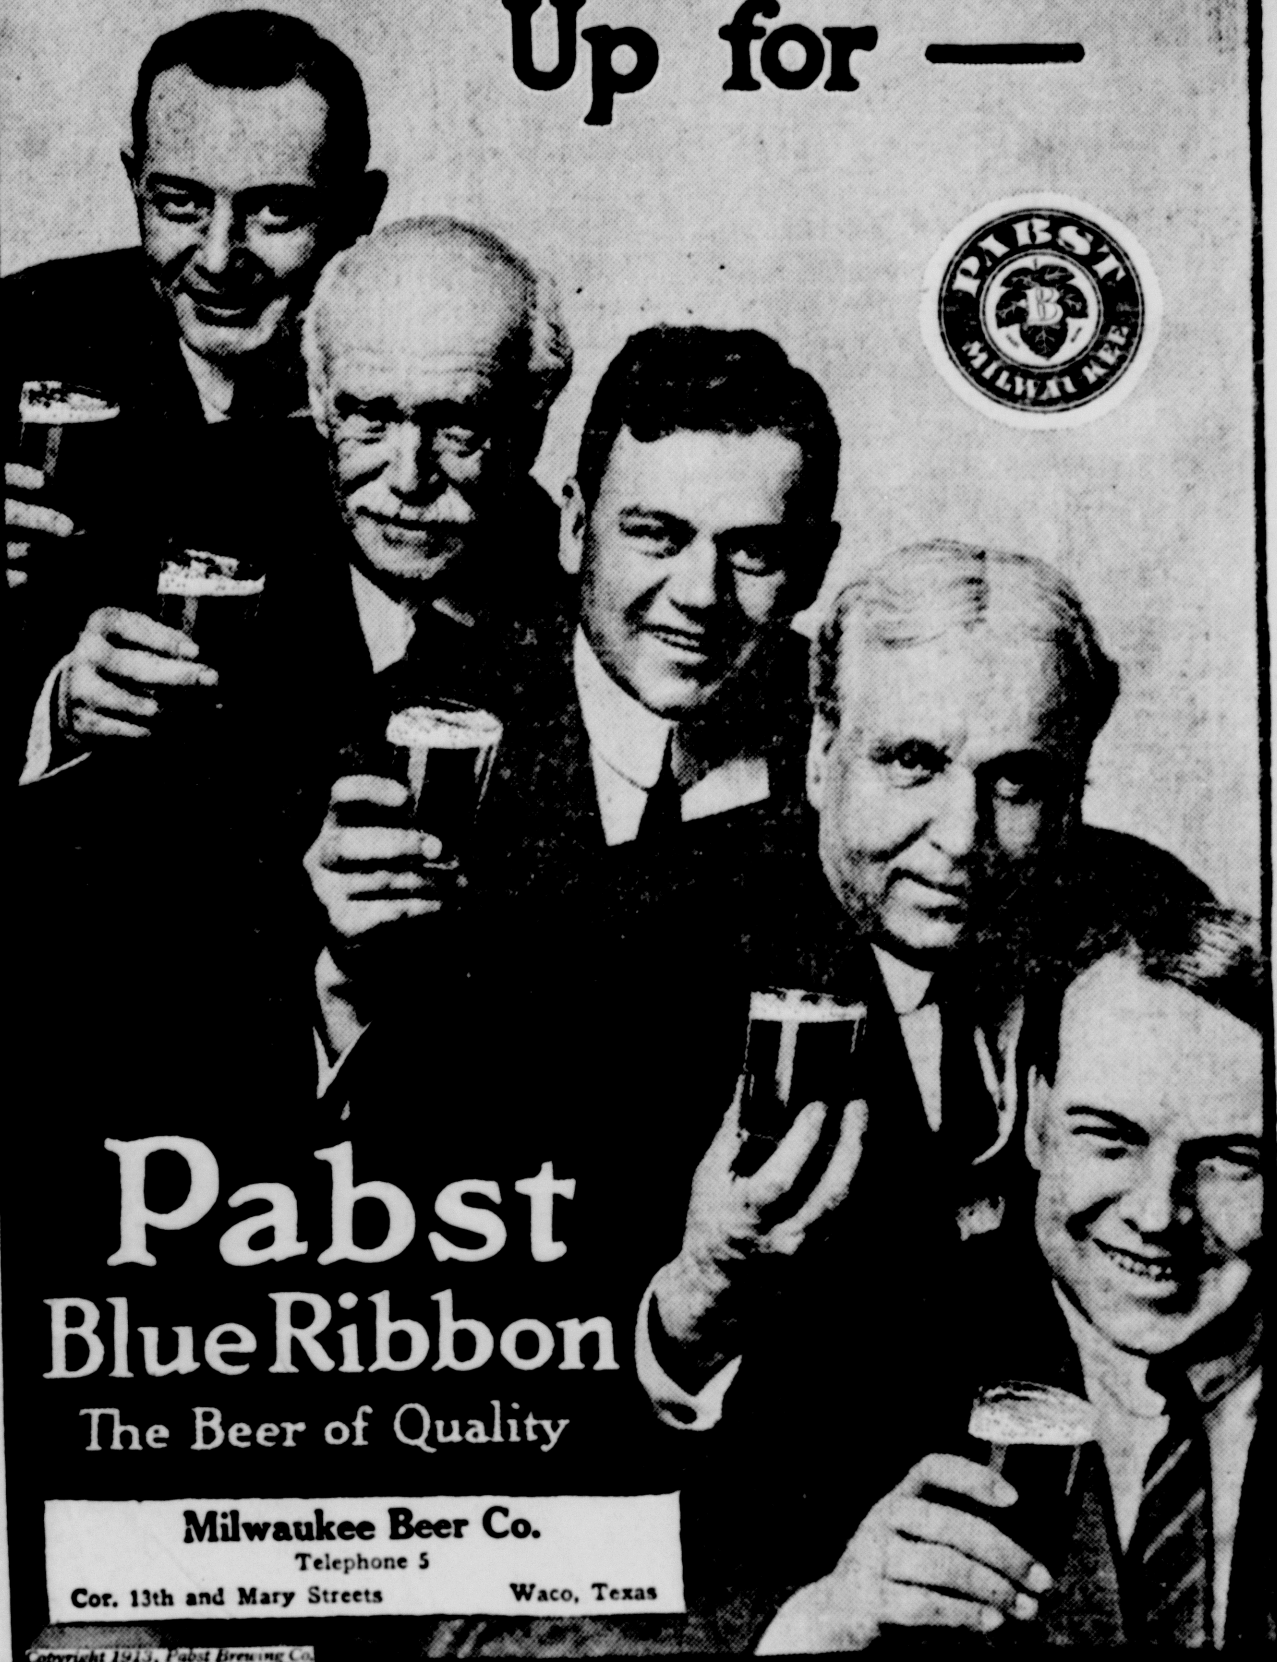

Commissioner Ligon expressed opposition to granting the petition, saying that it would not be fair to allow that neighborhood to use the two kinds of water. He favored having them ask their choice, and choose the kind as is done in other parts of town. Superintendent Quay was called upon to give a rough estimate of the cost of the improvement, which he fixed at $550. Judge Sleeper then estimated the total income from the investment at $200 a year, and expressed himself in favor of granting the petition.

Dr. Craven was asked by Commissioner Cartwright if the petitioners would use meters, and if they would keep them throughout the seasons of the year. Dr. Craven assured the board that such would be the case. Mr. Cartwright then made a motion that the board order the pipe laid as petitioned, provided the petitioners and other users in that neighborhood would sign a contract not to order their meters removed during a part of the year. Four of the members of the commission voted in favor of the motion. Mr. Ligon voted negatively.

Need Larger Quarters.
The matter of new and larger quarters for the waterworks department was then brought up by Judge Sleeper and discussed informally by the board. Superintendent Quay stated that quite a lot of trouble had been experienced in the inability of the officials to keep up with all of the tools and implements of the department, and that it is imperative that they be kept where the secretary of the board can look after them. In that way, any tools borrowed could be charged up to the borrower, and credited to him with their return.

It was generally agreed that such a plan would be impracticable in the present quarters occupied by the section, so that new alternatives were proposed. The possibility of getting the owner of a lot to construct a house suitable for the needs of the department met with the most favorable comment, though Chairman Sleeper

$250 just as easy as I did if you had come along that night."

Hill Denies Bribe Offer.
Hill denied he offered "padding" a bribe to "confess" or that he asked him for a written statement. On cross-examination, he told William P. McLean Jr. that D. M. Doyle, one of the private prosecutors, had engaged him to go to El Paso, with Honea. He swore he paid his own expenses, that Doyle paid him $15 a week, making two payments, for time lost from his work, but that he never paid him back for his expenses.

Honea, who testified later Monday morning, swore that he bought Hill's round trip ticket to El Paso, paid his hotel bill and gave him money on which to eat.

Judge Buck, not satisfied with Hill's answers to lawyers' questions, charged the examination and confused the witness.

"What had been the relations between you and Ratliff," he asked, "that he should come to you and ask you to help him 'do away' with a church? Did he ever talk to you before about committing any other crime with him?"

"If he ever did," Hill answered, "I don't remember it."

"If you turned down his offer that night, did you not care whether the church was burned?"

"It was immaterial with me."

"Why didn't you go to the police and tell them that there was a plot to burn the church and put them on their guard?"

In Burglary Frame-Up.
"Because I had been in a frame-up to burglarize a house on East First street, and although the woman who owned the house was in the frame-up too and I had not even been bound over to the grand jury, I felt that the officers had it in for me and would try to implicate me if I reported it."

"Did the sheriff's office have it in for you, too, according to your opinion?"

On cross-examination, Hill was asked why he kept his information more than a year before he told anyone. He said the first and only person he had told of Ratliff's approach was his brother-in-law, Ray Hardin, a soldier stationed in Florida and who was visiting here. He said he supposed Detective Honea had got it from his brother-in-law, because Honea told him he had made a trip to Florida, and that Attorney Doyle summoned him to his office just before the cattleman's convention and had him go to El Paso with Honea to try to get evidence from Ratliff.

"Do you expect to claim that $1500 they offered you if they could convict Ratliff on your testimony?" McLean asked him.

"They promised me that and I expect them to keep their promise."

The substance of Hill's direct testimony was this:

"I have known Ratliff six years. About 9 o'clock the night the First Baptist church was burned, my wife and I, returning from a picture show to our home at 404 Taylor street, opposite the First Baptist church, met Ratliff and Herschel Long, on Main street, between Fifth and Sixth streets."

"Ratliff called me aside, I gave the baby to my wife to hold and stepped aside with him. He said: 'We are going to do away with the First Baptist church tonight. There's a piece of money in it for you if you come along. I told him I didn't want to do anything like that and that it would mean going to the penitentiary. He said I would be sure to get $250."

"I had talked with him a week or so before that in a pool hall. He told me that Herschel knew something about a silver set in the First Baptist church and that we could get $250 for it. I told him I wouldn't help him."

"When I saw him at El Paso he came to my room at a hotel there, and he asked me what they ever did to Norris. I told him that he had beat one case, but that they had another one against him."

"He said, 'Do you know that night I saw you?' I said yes. He said, 'You could have made $250 as easy as I did if you had come along.'"

"I didn't know where Honea was during the convention. He told me on the train returning home that he was in the next room and heard the conversation."

Honea in Next Room.

On cross-examination, McLean asked him if he did not testify before the grand jury that Honea was in an adjoining room and heard the conversation.

"Yes," he answered, "I didn't remember that just now when you asked me if I knew where Honea was at the time."

"Did Ratliff tell you in El Paso who was with him when the church was burned?"

"No, I was told not to ask him, but just to let him do most of the talking and see what he would say about it."

"You say it wouldn't make any impression on your mind if Ratliff had proposed some crime before he proposed to 'do away' with the church?"

"Would it make any impression on your mind if someone proposed that you go to the courthouse and swear a lie?"

"I wouldn't swear a lie for nothing."

"Would you swear a lie if you were paid for it?"

"No."

When Lavender was recalled to the stand by the prosecution, Cummings took up the questioning instead of Senator Lattimore, who had been conducting the case for the state.

Lavender Balks Again.

"I had a conversation in the jail with you," Cummings began.

"I said something to you in the jail," Lavender interrupted, "but I won't answer any questions here."

"Counsel has informed me," Judge Buck said to the witness, "that you refuse to answer questions here because you are afraid prisoners in jail will use violence to punish you for snitching. If that is your reason for refusing to answer, I shall see that you are protected, placed in a separate cell where they can't touch you."

"I'm already in another cell," he answered. "They put me in the hospital ward."

Before Attorney McLean opened his mouth, Lavender said to him, "You needn't ask me anything, either. I won't answer anybody's questions."

He was sent back to jail. It was then that Cummings took the stand to tell of Lavender's statement in the jail and it was then that McLean charged conspiracy on the part of the grand jury.

"I don't think the facts justify the admission of this testimony on this ground," Judge Buck said, "but let me say now that I believe the people of Fort Worth are as good people as live anywhere."

"We agree with your honor," Attorney

ney Albert J. Baskin interrupted.

"I believe that the people of Fort Worth are as good people as live anywhere," Judge Buck continued, "under the canopy of heaven. I believe the good people have taken sides on the issues that have grown out of and been connected with the burning of this church, and I fear that at times the good people have lent their ready ears to believe baseless and fabricated rumors and charged good citizens with misconduct. All good men should desire and all good women should wish to find the guilty parties, those who burned this church and burned the parsonage."

"Amen!" boomed County Attorney Baskin.

"But they should not be willing to convict or to persecute or harass any who did not have any connection with it," the court went on. "So far as this court is concerned, he is trying to see through the mass of circumstances which have been introduced on the stand and to find the truth. I do not desire to see any man convicted, do not desire to hold any man for trial unless the evidence justifies it, and if it does then it doesn't make any difference who he is, he ought to be convicted and receive the severest penalty of the law."

Many Women in Court.

More women than men crowded the court room this morning for the first time since the hearing began Saturday morning. Until this morning no women had attended the hearing.

But they came early today and had filled the best seats before the ordinary audience of male spectators had assembled.

More than at any other time since the hearing began, Judge Buck and Deputy Sheriff Wood had to call out for order and to command spectators to take seats and not to crowd the aisles.

Fred Lavender was before the grand jury again this morning. When he was called to Judge Buck's court room he had to be taken from the grand jury room.

The hearing was adjourned at noon until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to give Ratliff's attorneys time to get witnesses to testify that the two men who applied for membership in the First Baptist church the night someone shot at Dr. Norris in his study were Fred Lavender and Fred Lavender.

Assistant Police Chief Speight, formerly a city detective, and City Detective Snow testified today that Albright, the young ministerial student and street preacher who took the two men to the church that night said they were Sammie Black and a man named Lydon. They said they would try to have Black and Lydon in court Tuesday and Attorney McLean promised to try to have Albright.

W. S. Sweet, a First Baptist church trustee, testified Saturday that he recognized Lavender and Ratliff as the two who filed application and then left the church hurriedly.

DEFICIT IN CITY ACCOUNTS

Irregularities Found in Municipal Bookkeeping at East St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 25.—A deficit of $300,721.44 in the municipal finances of East St. Louis, Ill., as shown in the report of special auditors submitted to the city council tonight. The report also shows a shrinkage of $275,502 in the city's cash resources within two years.

The report, which was prepared by expert accountants of the city's files, that bonds already sold have been duplicated and that the duplicates are purchasable and that many citizens of prominence have been permitted to escape payment of taxes.

The mayor's report follows recent threats of Corporation Counsel Baxter and City Attorney Fekete to file suits against former City Treasurer E. Fred Gerold. Upon request of Baxter and Fekete the council tonight granted them additional time in which to prepare the suits.

Little Rock Banker Dead.

Little Rock, Aug. 25.—Abe Stowell, banker and capitalist, was found dead in his apartments in a downtown building tonight. An autopsy performed by the coroner's physician revealed uremic poisoning as the cause of death.

He was unmarried and 72 years old. He was practically sole owner of the Little Rock Trust company and owned much valuable real estate.

MULHALL ON STAND

REITERATES FORMER STATEMENTS—BECOMES HEATED IN QUESTIONING.

Says New York Paper Pays Him Salary—Questioned About Primary Campaign.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Representative J. F. McDermott's defense to charges brought out in the house lobby investigation began today with cross examination of Martin M. Mulhall, author of the expose, which pictured the National Association of Manufacturers as the maker and breaker of many congressional bills.

Mulhall swore the New York World, which published the story, was now paying him $100 a week. His passages with McDermott's lawyer were fiery and sprinkled with invitation to "come outside." Cross-examination developed that on one recent visit to the World office Mulhall was accompanied by Senator Reed, of the senate lobby committee.

G. G. West, private secretary to McDermott, told the committee he did not know Mulhall and branded the latter's story of the use of a "secret room" in the basement of the capitol as a head-quarters for spies upon congressmen as false.

Mulhall told of trying to dispose of his letters to William R. Hearst, Editor of the New York World, the only reason he could advance for Hearst's lack of interest was "that he thought it would help the present administration."

Attorneys for McDermott declared they wished to show Mulhall's bias, impugn his credibility and question his accuracy and veracity. Chairman Garrett said they would have all possible latitude.

Mulhall was questioned closely about his trip in the spring of 1912 to help McDermott in his primary campaign, when he swore he spent twenty-two days in Chicago and got back to Baltimore on April 19. The $250 check from Harold P. McCormick to the McDermott fund, which Mulhall cashed in Baltimore, figured again in the testimony. Attorney James S. Eashy-Smith, for McDermott, read a letter of Mulhall wrote to I. H. McMichael in June, in which he referred to his return to Baltimore on April 9.

"That's the time you did get there, Mr. Mulhall," said Attorney Smith.

"I want to state positively," said Mulhall, shaking his finger at the lawyer, "that man's a liar."

Chairman Garrett of the committee ordered the remarks stricken from the record, and cautioned Mulhall to refrain from using such language. Eashy-Smith promised to produce witnesses to swear that Mulhall cashed the $250 McCormick check in Baltimore about April 9.

Mulhall became angry again when the lawyer pressed him for an explanation of one of his expense accounts referring to the employment of a stenographer to do work in the "secret room" in the capitol. The lawyer asked him pointblank if he had not made out a false account.

"That's a dirty insinuation," shouted Mulhall. "If that gentleman don't stop this, I will throw a glass at him. This is the second time he has insulted me."

Mulhall admitted several discrepancies in his testimony, but explained them as being "typographical errors."

No Reason to Work.

(Washington Star.)

A large, slouchy colored man went shuffling down the road whistling like a lark. His clothes were ragged and his shoes were out at toes and heels, and he appeared to be in the depths of poverty for all his mirth.

As he passed a prosperous looking house a man stepped from the doorway and hailed him:

"Hey Jim! I got a job for you. Do you want to make a quarter?"

"No'm," said the ragged one, "I done got a quarter."

Cushing Says No Friction on Selection of President for A. & M.

Dallas, Aug. 25.—E. B. Cushing, a member of the A. & M. College board of directors, today declared that reports emanating from Austin to the effect that there is a disagreement in the board, which is holding up the selection of a president for the institution, are erroneous.

"The special committee, which was to report on the selection of a president, simply asked for more time and we gave them until November."

"No vote was taken on the presidency," Mr. Cushing said.

White Slaves.

(Harper's Weekly.) It has been held in the notorious San Francisco case that a man is brought within the Mann act, the so-called white slave act, if he merely pays the fare of a woman from one place to another, if they are making the trip for purposes deemed morally objectionable. It may or may not be wise for the government to undertake to regulate all the sex matters in the universe, but it is certainly idiotic to make no distinction between the real white slave traffic, which is the organized interstate trade in vice, and those voluntary arrangements between the two individuals concerned. The fight against organized vice as a business has begun in earnest, and has an increasing weight of public feeling behind it. The danger of a statute like the Mann act is that, in mixing up a cruel business with the ordinary concerns of private individuals, it may bring about a reaction. The Mann act not only does not confine itself to organized traffic, it does not confine itself to prostitution, organized or isolated. It undertakes to bring within the federal statute, on a technicality, purely individual and non-mercenary matters and thus make the federal government interfere with the most intimate private morals. Whatever your opinion about human rights may be, you will admit that the law in this instance is undertaking a considerable amount of regulation.

Sporting Blood.

There are ways of doing things. That is elementary and axiomatic wisdom, and yet people are slow to act upon it. Take the case of the East Cleveland who has a garden and a small boy, suggests the Plain Dealer. This man said to his wife the other day:

"Emily, we aren't going to have any sweet corn this season if we don't take better care of it. I wish you would persuade Robert to take a morning from his baseball and swimming, and get after that corn patch."

"I tried to," sighed the mother, "but he just won't do it."

"Tell him you'll give him a quarter to do it."

"I did. I said just yesterday, 'Robert, if you'll cultivate that corn and get all the weeds out of it by noon I'll give you a quarter to put in your bank.'"

"Oh, pshaw! That's not the way to do it. Call him in here and I'll fix it. Robert, have you got any sporting blood in you? Will you take a small bet? I'll bet you a quarter you can't get that corn hoed before noon today."

"I got you," says Robert. Then as a look of triumph spreads over his father's face, he adds, "Have you got any sporting blood in you?"

"I sure have, Robert."

"Then I'll bet you a half dollar you win the bet. I'll bet at the office this noon and collect."

The corn isn't hoed yet.

FEDERAL COURT HOLDS IT IS BEING INFRINGED BY EASTMAN.

MILLIONS ARE INVOLVED IN CASE

Anso Company Wins Long Drawn Out Litigation—Will Go to the Supreme Court.

It is claimed by the Anso company of Birmingham, N. Y., that as a result of the decision by District Judge Hazel in the United States court in Buffalo, declaring the Eastman Kodak company infringers on the Hannibal Goodwin film patent, the Eastman company will be compelled to account for between $5,000,000 and $25,000,000. This sum, he said, represented profits made on films in the last fifteen years. The Anso company controls the Goodwin Film and Camera company, which in turn controls the Goodwin patent. The decision declares that all the common types of film manufactured by the Eastman company, such as cartridge films, film packs and cinematograph films, are an infringement of the Goodwin patent. Under the court's decree an injunction will be issued restraining the Eastman company from continuing the manufacture of the films. The court will also direct an accounting to the Goodwin company.

The Eastman company will doubtless carry the case to the United States supreme court, and it is expected that until the appeal is decided the Eastman company will be permitted to manufacture films by giving a heavy bond to indemnify the Goodwin company for past and future profits. Under the decision the Eastman company is accused of using for its own benefit the inventions of the Rev. Hannibal Goodwin, who for many years was rector of the House of Prayer in Newark, a high church Protestant Episcopal parish, and who died in poverty in 1906 after his interests in his patents had been taken over by the Goodwin Film and Camera company. His widow, who is still living in Newark, and is about 75 years old, will benefit by the decision of it is upheld.

The Eastman company, which manufactures the greater part of the photographic films produced in the world, has fought the Goodwin claims for twenty-five years. The clergyman, who was an amateur photographer as well as a practical chemist, devoted years to devising a substitute for glass which could be carried easily. When he sought to patent his invention he was opposed from 1887 until 1898 by the Eastman company, which contended that he had discovered nothing that had not already been patented in England. After his invention was finally rejected in March, 1898, he appealed to the board of examiners in chief, which sustained his right to a patent and held that prior art did not disclose means for successfully producing a photographic film of the kind specified by Mr. Goodwin.

The suit just decided was brought in 1902, after Goodwin had died without realizing anything on his invention. Since that time the prosecution of the suit has been blocked at every step by the Eastman company, while the Goodwin company has not been energetic in pressing the case. When the Anso company got control of the Goodwin concern the case was pushed rapidly, with the result that Judge Hazel heard it a few weeks ago and gave his decision a few days ago.

In his decision Judge Hazel says: "I think it is fairly established by the proofs that in this field an important step forward in the art was made by Goodwin which led from past deficiencies and failures to success. The process by which at the present time images are instantaneously produced by the action of the light on a sensitized flexible film chemically prepared, and by which, for example, the movement of forms and shapes is obtained, would be difficult to comprehend even at this late date were it not

Ashton Pitches a Great One-Hit Game, Tanner Breaks It Up in the Ninth With Bases Full

TEXAS LEAGUE.

Ninth inning—score 1 to 1—three men on bases. Something had to bust. And of course it was Buddie that busted it. A line drive over Storch's head did the deed.

This is positively the last time that Arch will be allowed to star. The anti-trust laws must be enforced.

Arch had made two previous endeavors to break through the lines and put an end to the nerve-racking strain—and both times he got close enough for a squabble. Both times this time in the "lucky" seventh, which this time unfolded all its luck on Dallas. Buddie came up with two men down and dropped one on top of left field fence—but he didn't have a Knaupp horse-shoe any more than Markley did. The ball made one half-hearted wobble and fell back into the lot. Hardy thought somebody outside pushed it back, or that the fence was above the regulation height, but he couldn't make Umpire Howell regard it as a legitimate home run, and Buddie camped on second. Then Catcher Basham, the Blocking Kid, let one get through him, and Tanner milled for home; but Basham got back to the plate with the ball just before Arch, and sat down in the pathway. Archie tried to burrow through, and Umpire Howell pulled them apart.

Those close mids it was some warm discussion, and inclined to be personal. The end of the sparkling, half-rising, hand-to-hand duel was not a bit more thrilling than the start.

In the first chucker, McLaurin landed on third with one down and two at the bat. Hardy scored a neck and neck race, and played for one score.

With Pate's wind-up, Mac dusted for home, and Beck laid down a perfect out. A squeeze—never a prettier one. The Giants fought hard. Ashton pulled out of holes in the second and fifth only by great pitching, backed by intimidating support. Tanner took twelve chances without an error, and they were some chances. Beck and Crichlow brought home a couple that might have been hits, and the rest of the team were steady as clocks. The worst of it was, the Giants were also steady—too steadily steady. Duncan and Daniel Boone lived on hard chances.

Dallas Tie It. Dallas took only one hit off Ashton but that was a good one, and they made it count for a run.

Kellerman was the man who solved Jack's delivery for the home team. He pounded out a two-bagger to center field, and went to third on a sacrifice. Duncan hit a fielder's choice to cut off the run. He pegged Duncan out at first while Kellerman slid home with the tying score.

Ashton Pitches Ball. Up until then it had been a great game. But now it was more so. Ashton and Pate put on full steam and delivered the goods by a long and tireless race during the seventh and eighth, but neither side could put one over. Ashton was going his strongest in the final round, and put them square across with the full quota of steam and then some.

But in the final half of the ninth Beck broke Pate's strangle hold with a clean single. Renard got another clean one to right. Crichlow walked, while the grandstand went crazy. And Tanner singled.

Markets By Telegraph

Cotton.

New York, Aug. 25.—The cotton market was active and excited today with prices making new high ground for the movement on general buying, which reflected apprehension of an unfavorable new crop output. There was heavy trading on the advance and some of the old bull interests were credited with taking profits on fully 150,000 bales; but fresh buying for long account and further covering prevented anything more than slight reactions and the market closed very steady at a net gain of from 23 to 28 points.

Early weather advices, indicating that the scattered showers reported on the decline of Friday had been followed by a renewal of dry weather in the southwest, and bullish private crop account, seemed to have attracted considerable attention abroad, and the cables showed a sharp advance. The local market opened firm at an advance of 11 to 12 points in consequence, and quickly sold about 15 to 22 points net higher. Realizing caused slight reactions from this level, but the report of a prominent Memphis authority placing the average condition of the crop at only 92.4 against 72.6 last month and 74.8 last year, was against any aggressive selling for short account.

Local bulls, who had been active buyers last week were credited with selling freely on the advance, but houses with connections in New Orleans, Memphis and the southwest were buyers here, while there was an active demand from Wall Street and local shorts. This readily absorbed realizing sales and the market reached the best point of the day in the late trading, when December and later dates made no higher records for the season. Closing prices were within a point or two of the best. Private wires from Oklahoma estimated the crop in that state at only 75,000 bales.

Expectations of a bullish weekly weather report and other bullish private condition reports before the end of the week doubtless contributed to the advance.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Aug. 25.—The cotton market took on a good strong advance today on reports of continued crop deterioration in Texas and Oklahoma as the result of drouth and high temperatures. Alarming stories of crop failure came in from many points in the two states and were accompanied by small crop estimates. A feature of the day was the private bureau estimate of condition that were circulated.

These estimates put the loss in condition for August at about 10 points. Much of the buying of the day resulted from this. The opening was very steady at an advance of 18 to 21 points. Cables were better than expected, the weather map was dry, the forecast predicted continued fair weather for the cotton belt generally and much bullish comment was excited by low condition estimates and small crop reports.

Offerings were heavy enough at times to cause setbacks. The market always recovered, however, and then worked higher. Shorts bought covers on a large scale, but a good part of the demand appeared to come from traders on the long side. In the afternoon the market was forced up to a level of 24 to 25 points over last week's close. Closed steady with a net gain of 30 to 35 points.

Grain.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Influential buying in the final hour turned a weak corn market into a strong one today, prices at the close showing a net advance of 3/4 to 1/2c. Wheat finished a shade to 3/4c higher, oats unchanged to 1/4c up and provisions 7/8c lower to 5c higher.

The uplift in corn came on the heels of security in varied sections. Buffalo said scarcely a car of spot corn was for sale there, Kansas points were said to be out of corn and using wheat for feed; from Nebraska came reports of an expert that in the last three weeks the crop there had gone back 24 per cent and that no relief was in sight.

The market was at or near the high point of the day. There was some buying for export, short covering helped harden prices toward the close. There was a great deal of selling pressure in oats until toward the close, when some improvement in demand stiffened prices.

Provisions were quiet and easy, the best show of strength being on some good buying of pork, near the close.

DRINKING FOUNTAINS GO IN

Installation is Being Made at Eight Locations on the Main Streets.

Sanitary drinking fountains are being installed by the city street department at the intersections of the main streets and one has already been placed on the city hall square. The fountains are of the latest approved style, simple in shape and construction, but artistic and convenient for even a child. The flow is not continuous, but is worked by a slight pressure of the foot on a pedal valve. Farmers and pedestrians especially will be benefited by the fountains.

There will be eight, located as follows:
In front of the city hall.
Southwest corner Fourth and Austin.
Southeast corner Fifth and Austin.
Northeast corner Sixth and Austin.
Southwest corner Elm and Dallas.
Southeast corner Fifth and Franklin.
Southeast corner Sixth and Franklin.
Northeast corner Eighth and Austin.

CONFERENCE ON KIND OF PAVING

PROPERTY OWNERS THINK THEY SHOULD HAVE VOICE IN THE SELECTION.

NARROWS DOWN TO TWO BIDS

Bitulithic and Bituminous Concrete Are Being Considered—Caufield Speaks for Commission.

The suggestion in the Morning News yesterday that it would be well for the property owners to be consulted as to the character of material to be used in street paving has been met with an indorsement from those who have discussed the question.

The various materials are known to the people. Five kinds of material have been submitted, but it is understood that the question has narrowed down to two kinds.

Bitulithic has been laid on Austin avenue from Eighth to Eleventh; on Fifth from Washington to Herring; and on Twelfth from Austin to Jefferson.

Bituminous concrete has been laid on Franklin street from Eighth to Eleventh.

These pavements are before the people for their view, and they can look them over and decide which they will like the better.

Speaks for Commission.

Commissioner Caufield, who represented the views of the kind of material in saying that they were always glad to have the citizens interested come to the meetings and discuss the matter. "It has always been our policy," said Mr. Caufield, "to give the property owners what they want wherever it was agreeable to the general interest of the city. If the Eighteenth street property owners will send delegations to the commissioners' meetings and let us know their opinion, it will make it much easier for us to decide the matter to the satisfaction of all concerned."

Commissioner Caufield stated that the contracts had narrowed down to two, the bitulithic and the bituminous concrete, costing, respectively, $2.11 and $1.84. The asphalt macadam, he said, had been set aside because the wear on Eighteenth street consequent to the steep grade and heavy traffic required something more durable.

Col. A. R. McCollum, one of the property owners along North Eighteenth street, said: "We have asked for a permanent paving, and that means a good paving that is of lasting material. We think the commissioners are disposed to give us the best, and that which will suit the needs of the street. I think it well for the commissioners to discuss this matter with the property owners, and get their views on it."

L. B. Gardner said: "It would be a good idea to have some well-known man owning property on Eighteenth call a meeting before the commissioners let the contract, at which all the property owners will be asked to express their opinions on the kind of paving they regard as best. Then a committee could be appointed to advise with the commissioners."

Herz Favors a Meeting.

Sid Herz was of the same opinion. "The property owners who pay two-thirds of the cost ought to have a voice in the decision as to what kind of pavement they are going to receive," said Mr. Herz. "The city commissioners are better acquainted with the conditions than the property owners, and will probably bring the property owners to their viewpoint, but all concerned would be better satisfied if a joint meeting could be arranged."

W. V. Crawford.

W. V. Crawford said that the citizens as a whole would be better satisfied if the commission should consult with a committee of property owners. "I think the commissioners know more about the proposition than any one else," said Mr. Crawford, "and in the end they will have their own way about it, but if they let the contracts without consulting the owners, those whose wishes are disregarded will be convinced that there was wire-pulling. Whereas, if the same men should meet with the commissioners, they could be readily shown where their opinions were wrong, and that the plan of the commissioners was the only logical one. I don't think the meeting will have any effect on the kind of pavement put down, but I think it will work for a general confidence and harmony of action."

FOSTER WOULD RECLAIM LANDS

Proposes Arched Sewer Along Waco Creek and Barron's Branch and the Streams To Be Filled In and Leveled

City Commissioner Foster believes the greatest development that can be brought about in Waco would be for an arched sewer along the meanderings of Barron's branch and Waco creek, from the source of each of these streams to the Brazos river.

Commissioner Foster has been making a study of the two waterways that pass through the city, one on the north side and one on the south. They pass through the best residence streets and alongside of very valuable city property. The commissioner's idea is for joint action by the city and property owners. He believes that if an arched sewer sufficient to carry the storm water that flows through these two creeks is constructed, and the bed of each stream is filled up and leveled over, that there will be enough land reclaimed by the city and by private owners to justify the expense.

"Such an improvement would benefit every man owning property along either of these streams," said the commissioner yesterday. "It would improve the property, would give the city some open streets and some open land, and would add to the value of every foot abutting thereon."

Mr. Foster does not believe this question can be taken up and disposed of at once. It will require a lot of discussion and planning and it will be necessary to have full reports by engineers before anything like an estimate can be reached as to what the cost will be.

DIRECTOR OF BOYS The arrival yesterday of Director Flowers of the boys' work, that branch of the local Young Men's Christian association will take on renewed activity within a very short while. Mr. Flowers came here from Sherman, Texas, and is highly recommended as an association director. He stated on his arrival:

"I am glad to find that the men's work and the boys' work is separated, for I have found that the boys get much more good out of their work when they are not thrown with the men in an association. I have outlined the work for the boys for the winter, and hope to have all their activities in full swing by the opening of the building and gymnasium."

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in a special meeting called by President C. L. Johnson. They will discuss plans for the winter work, and will inspect the progress on the building.

The membership committee met yesterday afternoon and laid plans for a membership campaign as soon as the work on the building is completed. The furnishing committee also met yesterday, and is making plans to install a lot of new furniture throughout the building as soon as the remodeling process will permit.

The directors hope to be able to formally open the building by the first of October. The gymnasium is almost ready for use now.

HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT FILED AS RESULT OF DEATH OF BOY.

Contempt Proceedings Filed as Result of Violation of Injunction of Restraint.

In the Nineteenth District court yesterday afternoon Mrs. Nellie I. Woodall filed a suit for damages against the Texas Light and Power company for the sum of $30,000. This suit is the result of the death of Sammie, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Woodall, on the night of August 2, who was burned to death by a dangling live wire belonging to the defendants of the suit.

The boy was killed as he was on his way to town to meet his mother. She was an eye-witness to the affair, but the mute evidence of the broken wire showed how he had come in contact with it as it dangled in the shade of a tree, with instant death as a result.

Contempt proceedings were filed in the Nineteenth District court yesterday against Ola Harris and Belle Pence. This followed the violation of an injunction filed several weeks ago, prohibiting the women selling malt liquors.

W. Salter filed in county court a petition for the issuance of a writ of certiorari in the case of the McLendon Hardware company vs. J. W. Salter. The petitioner sets forth that the McLendon Hardware company recently secured judgment by default when the case was brought to trial, and which he claims would not have occurred had he known when the case was to have been called. He prays that the case be remanded to the county court for another trial.

Mrs. Walter R. Hull of Mexico City, after a visit to Mrs. B. G. McKie, left for Austin to visit relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Hull left the City of Mexico for New York several months ago. Mr. Hull returned in June, but owing to unsettled conditions in Mexico insisted on leaving Mrs. Hull in Texas. She thinks conditions will justify her leaving for Mexico on the 30th via New Orleans and steamer to Vera Cruz.

Years ago Mr. Hull lived in Waco and was connected with the old Waco Examiner. He is now largely identified with Mexico and thinks it the land of great promise and possibilities.

Fire Chief A. M. Prescott left yesterday for New York, where he will represent Waco in the national convention of fire chiefs. He has been for nearly thirty years at the head of the Waco fire department, and by attending the annual convention from year to year he has acquired an acquaintance among the fire fighters of the country that is valuable to him.

At each convention there are demonstrations of the most approved apparatus, which give him ideas that are beneficial in his work here. He will stop at several places en route.

Edward Toby has returned from a visit to New York and other cities of the country. While absent he had occasion to discuss the money situation with some of the leading bankers and he says it is his belief that by October the present money tension will be more or less relieved.
